Roosevelt Says Income Tax Would Have to Be Broadened at the Base

Says Broadening Would Give Added Responsibilities to Group Not Now Covered by Tax Laws

Modify Relief

Washington, June 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today the income tax structure would have to be broadened at the base but he doubted that congress would take any action at this session.

Responding to questions at a press conference, the President said he believed the base should be broadened a little bit to cover more taxpayers, but he added this would not bring in much additional revenue.

(Broadening the base means to lower salary exemptions so that more individuals pay income taxes.)

Broadening, the President said, would give added responsibilities of citizenship to a group not now covered by the tax laws.

He also expressed the opinion that income tax rates in the middle brackets probably should be raised a bit.

Mr. Roosevelt referred to what he termed silly and political editorial which suggested that lowering a single man's exemption from $1,000 to $800 and a married man's from $2,500 to $1,200 would permit the government to pay off the national debt.

He contended the cost of collecting the revenues from the lower income groups as a result of broadening the tax base would be virtually equivalent to the new revenue brought in.

About the time of the President's press conference, the House ways and means committee, mapping out revision of business taxes, voted to permit individuals and partnerships, as well as corporations to carry over their net operating losses for income tax purposes for two years.

This action came just before the committee passed along to the House without a record vote a tax revision measure which would repeal the present undistributed profits tax and levy an 18 percent tax on large corporations.

A ways and means subcommittee previously had voted to permit corporations to carry over their net losses for two years.

As now written the provision will permit both individuals and business partnerships to carry over the excess when their deductions exceed their gross income.

The full committee also decided to extend to notes, debentures and certificates of indebtedness a provision permitting corporations in unsound financial condition to retire bonds at less than par value without being taxed.

Present law holds that the difference between par and the price paid in retiring such forms of indebtedness is taxable income.

Asked to Leave

Walter Reinhardt (above), consul-general at Liverpool, Eng., was asked by Prime Minister Chamberlain to leave the country because of complicity in a spying case. The German government denied he was involved. Reinhardt was German consul at Seattle from 1928 to 1934.

Tribute Is Paid School Principal John H. Garrison

Head of City Grade School Honored in Retirement by Local Colleagues; Served 40 Years

A tribute was paid last evening to Principal John H. Garrison of School No. 8, who is retiring this spring after a service of 40 years in school work, 25 of them as the head of No. 8 school. It took the form of a farewell dinner, served at the Hotel Kirkland and given in honor of Mr. Garrison by the faculty of the school.

Guests included Superintendent of Schools B. C. Van Ingen and Mrs. Van Ingen, Clarence L. Dumm, principal of the high school and Mrs. Dumm, Frank L. Meagher, principal of the Myron J. Michael School; the principals of all the city schools: R. H. Rigall, Arthur H. Russell and Mrs. Russell, Frank B. Ratcliff, R. H. Van Valkenburgh, A. J. Boyd, H. A. Miner and Mrs. Miner, John J. Finerty and Mrs. Finerty. Other guests were: Miss Alice L. Costello and Miss Frieda L. Hayes, formerly of School No. 8, now teaching in the Myron J. Michael School, and Miss McGrath, retired.

Hostesses of the evening, the faculty of No. 8, all of whom were present, were: Nellie G. Abernethy, Lenora M. Fitzgerald, Sarah T. Gallagher, Regina McAndrew, Louise S. Nickerson, Marion R. Meyers, Evelyn Gerber, Florence Finn, Elizabeth Elmdorf, Lillian Gallagher, Winifred A. Nash, Florence M. Wheeler and Miss Mabel E. Mericlie, school nurse.

The only speaker of the evening was Principal Miner of School No. 6, who declared that after dinner speaking was strictly taboo, but otherwise the program was open, with the provision that nothing must interfere with the informal nature of the gathering.

Mr. Miner referred to the many nice things that those present would say regarding the guest of honor if called upon to speak, but said they were all written in the lives and characters of the boys and girls who had passed through No. 8 school during the quarter of a century Mr. Garrison had been its executive head.

Every body in the city knows he has been a character builder, said Mr. Miner—"a builder of bridges for young people to cross in order to become good citizens." He concluded with a poem, "The Bridge Builder." He then called on Principal Finerty of School No. 7, who gave an appreciation in an original poem entitled, "Pop."

At the present time but one of the four radio cars is so equipped, and the system has worked so well that the board recently ordered the other three cars similarly equipped.

The board approved an order directing that the new traffic light recently installed at Broadway and O'Reilly street be kept in operation hereafter from 8 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock at night. Since it was first installed it had only been operated at the hours when pupils in the high school were entering or leaving the school grounds.

Since the light was installed a number of requests had been made to the police department to lengthen the hours the light was kept in operation.

The fireworks ordinance of the city will be strictly enforced this year by the police department. This year as the second of July falls on Sunday fireworks dealers will be permitted to display and offer for sale fireworks on Saturday, July 1, as the ordinance was intended to allow dealers two business days in which to dispose of their stock.

Several routine matters were disposed of and the board then adjourned.

Reservoir Is Normal
Despite the early spring drouth, the Ashokan reservoir is practically at normal height for the season. The flow line is approximately three feet below the capacity level and unless there is a continued drouth through the summer it is not anticipated that the reservoir will be unusually low this year, since it was filled to capacity by the winter rains and spring run-off.

Two Women Injured
In a collision between two automobiles at Broadway and Chester street about 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon two women were slightly injured. The cars were being driven by Lawrence Wenzel of Brooklyn and Ernest L. Stillman of Plainfield, N. J. Rita Wenzel of Brooklyn, a passenger in the Wenzel car, and Mrs. Ella Aldrich of Plainfield, N. J., a passenger in the Stillman car, suffered bumps on the head.

Suspended for Attack

Behind locked doors, and with a policeman in the corridor, Dr. David Weglein, superintendent of Baltimore, Md., schools, questioned more than a dozen of 18 suspended junior high school students, then prepared a confidential report to the school board on the branding of Melvin Bridge, a 14-year-old Jewish student recently. Three of the suspended students questioned by authorities are shown. Left to right: Joseph Young, Earl Wingate and Carroll Phillips.

Budget Held Illegal, Republicans Look to The Court of Appeals

Appellate Division By 3 to 2 Invalidates Replacement of Itemized Amounts With Reduced Lump Sums—Victory For Governor in Next Test Would Mean Recasting

Albany, N. Y., June 16 (AP)—New York's Republican legislators looked today to their last resort, the court of appeals, for reversal of an appellate division decision invalidating their replacement of Governor Lehman's itemized appropriations with reduced "lump sums."

Pending a ruling by New York's highest tribunal, the appellate court's decision nullifies a section of the $390,000,000 state budget representing $135,000,000 state budget appropriations for operation of state departments and $7,000,000 of the legislature's total $25,000,000 cuts in the executive's spending program.

Meantime, Republican lawmakers feared the appellate court's three to two stand weakened, temporarily at least, the issue of governmental economy on which the party hopes to help carry the state for a party presidential nominee in 1940.

With the state facing increased possibility of a special legislative session to revamp an invalidated budget section, as a result of the first court tilt, Arthur A. Ballantine, counsel for the legislature, prepared to fight the decision in the court of appeals Monday.

The prevailing opinion was written by Associate Justice Christopher J. Hoffmann, a Republican, who joined two Democratic jurists, F. Walter Bliss and Gilbert V. Schenck, in ruling against the legislature. It was the first case heard by Justice Schenck, who was elevated to the appellate division by Governor Lehman a week ago.

"It may not discard the executive budget and write one of its own," the opinion maintained on the legislature's powers. "That constitutes nullification of the constitutional provision."

The legislature "goes much further," he said, "than striking out items or reducing items or adding items of appropriation. In effect it destroys the executive budget completely and substitutes therefor a legislative bill."

"In other words," he added, "the legislature completely emasculates the governor's appropriation bill."

Hiser Proves He's Alive
Decatur, Ill., June 16 (AP)—Court proceedings to have Frank H. Hiser, 48, legally declared dead came to an abrupt and unexpected halt yesterday. Hiser walked into the courtroom. He left town 21 years ago.

Suicide Reported
Fort Lee, N. J., June 16 (AP)—Bergen County Prosecutor John J. Breslin, Jr., announced today that Hagazoon Kasarjian, 71-year-old Armenian whose torch death atop the Palisades had puzzled authorities for several days, was a "suicide."

Approves Bill to Study Municipal Finance Laws
Albany, N. Y., June 16 (AP)—Creation of a temporary state commission to study methods for revising and modernizing state and municipal finance laws won approval today of Governor Lehman.

The measure, sponsored by Assemblyman Abbot Low Moffat, New York city Republican and chairman of the Assembly ways and means committee, calls for $25,000 for expenses of the study which is to be reported April 15, 1940.

The governor brought the number of new laws to 881 with approval of a bill creating a commission to study and recommend measures to approve facilities for the care of deaf children. The commission, having a $20,330 appropriation, will report next March 15.

Japanese Officials See United States Mediation In Crisis With Britain

Seek Abandonment Of The Stony Clove Branch of Central

Famous Line Carried Summer Guests From Phoenicia to Stony Clove, and Other Points

Application for abandonment of the Stony Clove branch of the New York Central Railroad, formerly known as the Ulster & Delaware Railroad, has been made to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington and this famous 20 mile branch line which in past years has carried summer guests from Phoenicia up through the Stony Clove notch and on to Tannersville and Hunter probably will be abandoned.

Prior to the coming of the automobile as a means of traffic the Stony Clove Branch did a thriving business in summer. Long trains slowly made their way up the heavy grades and through the notch to Kaaterskill Junction where the line branched, one leading to Hunter and the other continuing on to Tannersville and beyond to carry passengers out to the large mountain houses of the locality.

Since the advent of motor car traffic there have been annual reports of abandonment of the line but the railroad company had denied the reports. This spring following a visit of the president of the system and several other distinguished railroad men it was reported that the line was to be abandoned but railroad officials described the visit as "routine" and said they had no knowledge of any plan to abandon the Phoenicia-Kaaterskill-Hunter line. Application was made on June 10, Washington for abandonment.

The railroad has applied to the commission for a certificate of convenience and necessity permitting the abandonment of the lines extending from Phoenicia to Kaaterskill, approximately 19.2 miles in length, and from Kaaterskill Junction to Hunter, approximately 2.7 miles. The line lies in Ulster and Greene counties.

In the past when passenger traffic was heavy the summer boarders would arrive at Phoenicia by Ulster & Delaware train and transfer to the Stony Clove Branch train which would be waiting on the spur and be hauled up the winding, tortuous right-of-way through the narrow picturesque valley and through the notch to the Greene county side of the Catskills where at Kaaterskill Junction the line branched, the main route leading to Tannersville while a shorter branch line went to Hunter. The line was for freight as well as passenger service and was in operation throughout the year.

As on other short lines leading into the mountain, traffic has fallen off in late years and like other lines which have already become a memory, the Stony Clove Branch undoubtedly will shortly become a thing of memory.

Treasury Receipts
Washington, June 16 (AP)—The position of the treasury June 14: Receipts, $22,670,963.63; expenditures, $18,009,418.66; net balance, $2,904,438,069.02; working balance included $2,231,043,034.44; customs receipts for month, $11,317,160.46; receipts for fiscal year (July 1), $5,276,709,383.44; expenditures $8,659,033,753.54; emergency expenditures included $2,964,381,741.63; excess of expenditures, $3,382,324,370.10; gross debt, $40,362,849,245.21; increase over previous year, $17,537,116.83; gold assets, $16,027,381,239.47.

Troop Maneuvers
Berlin, June 16 (AP)—Summer troop maneuvers preparatory to the big annual demonstration this fall before Heilshuefner Hitler are taking place throughout greater Germany. Troops on the move may be seen on highways in every section. One feature of the exercises will be thorough training for the first time of forces stationed in the region of the Reich's new western fortifications facing Belgium and France. Work on these fortifications will not be completed for several months.

Takes Two to Open Vault
San Francisco, June 16 (AP)—If Uncle Sam should decide to take some of his $6,000,000,000 in gold out of the Fort Knox, Ky., depositary, he would just have to wait until Russell J. Van Horn looks over the Golden Gate International Exposition. Van Horn knows half the combination to the 36-ton door of the vault. His assistant knows the other half. It takes both to open it.

Held by Japanese

There was little hope in Tientsin, China, that Eric Mayell (above), Fox Movietone cameraman, would be released from Japanese custody soon. Mayell, a Briton who had applied for American citizenship, was arrested for photographing Japanese barricades.

Ruling of Foster Is Given Hearing

Higher Court Signs Order Requiring Jurist and Lawyer to Appear

On Wednesday, June 14, the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court signed an order requiring Supreme Court Justice Sydney F. Foster and John D. Lyons, attorney for some of the owners of properties acquired by the City of New York in Sullivan county, to appear at the Court House of the Appellate Division in Albany at noon on June 15 and show cause why Judge Foster should not be prohibited from making any decision or order requiring that hearings on the claims of property owners should be held at any place other than in the City of Kingston.

The order was granted on the application of the City of New York and was made in connection with the contention of the city that hearings can be held at any place in the Third Judicial District.

At noon on June 15, Judge Foster and John D. Lyons appeared before the Appellate Division and Henry R. Bright and John E. Egan appeared for the City of New York. The Court heard argument by Mr. Bright for the city and John D. Lyons for the property owners. Judge Foster, although appearing took no part in the argument.

The Court directed that all papers in connection with the matter be submitted to the Court by July 1 and indicated that its decision would be rendered sometime after July 10.

After the matter is decided by the Appellate Division, either party may take an appeal to the Court of Appeals. The matter may not be finally determined until some time in the fall.

The controversy relating to the place of hearing claims results from a motion previously made before Judge Foster by John D. Lyons at the Special Term held in Monticello on May 26, for an order directing the Section 8 commission consisting of Rolf T. Michelson, Howard Beecher and Edward Easton, to hold hearings in Sullivan county. At the time the motion was heard the city of New York challenged the jurisdiction of Judge Foster to make any such order. In his opinion rendered June 8, Judge Foster held that he had such jurisdiction, and the question of whether or not Judge Foster has such jurisdiction is now before the Appellate Division for decision.

Road Test Changes
Another change in the days for taking motor vehicle road tests in Kingston has been announced by the Motor Vehicle Bureau, effective July 3. Beginning that date tests will be given on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesdays of each week and on Saturday mornings.

Payroll Holdup at Goshen
Goshen, N. Y., June 16 (AP)—A payroll of about $7,000, intended for workers on a PWA job, was seized by robbers shortly before noon today. Mayor Walter Brown said the money was being delivered at the Goshen Central School when the holdup occurred.

Concerted Stand by United States, Britain and France Believed to Be Hope of Settling the Crisis

Tension Relaxed

Arrival of Food Supplies Eases Immediate Anxiety of Shortage

(By The Associated Press)
Japanese officials today discussed the possibility of United States mediation in the grave issue between Japan and Britain at Tientsin which may develop into a showdown for prestige and position between Japan and other foreign powers with large stakes in China.

Government circles in Tokyo expressed belief that Eugene H. Doo-man, United States charge d'affaires there, might have taken a preliminary step toward mediation in a call at the foreign office although Doo-man said he acted "unofficially."

Doo-man was said in Washington to have told the Japanese foreign office the United States was concerned over the possible effect on American interests of the blockade Japanese troops have drawn around Tientsin. British and French concurred.

The Japanese acted after Britain had refused to turn over four Chinese accused by the Japanese of murder. Since then, however, Japan's terms have been increased and now call for a complete change in British policy in China.

A concerted stand by Britain, France and the United States was believed by diplomatic observers in London to be Britain's hope of settling the crisis. Some sources believed also that measures of economic retaliation—such as the closing of British Far Eastern ports to Japanese—might be announced soon unless Japan modified her demands.

The British press saw the possibility that Japan had timed the Far Eastern foment to coincide with German and Italian pressure in Europe against London's efforts to overcome barriers to Soviet Russia's participation with Britain and France in a mutual assistance plan.

Britain Sends Strong Note
London, June 16 (AP)—The British government declared today that any attempt to restrict British rights in China would bring "immediate and active steps" by Britain.

The foreign office took the unusual step of issuing a communiqué to express concern over statements by Japanese spokesmen that Japan demanded "that the British authorities cooperate with the Japanese in the construction of a 'new order' in the east."

The communiqué said: "The British circles can not but take a most serious view of the further demands which have been made and which raise the widest issues affecting the rights of all those powers which have treaty rights in China."

"They would mean the abandonment under threats of force of the policy which his majesty's government (Continued on Page Seven)

War on Spies

Number of Cases of Espionage This Year Probably Will Reach 1,000

Washington, June 16 (AP)—Federal agents under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover took over today the problem of protecting the nation's new armament construction program from foreign spies.

Intelligence officers of the war and navy departments will turn over to the justice department certain phases of their espionage investigations.

Attorney General Murphy, in making the announcement late yesterday, said he had evidence of sabotage as well as espionage and that the number of cases of the latter this year probably would reach 1,000. However, Murphy said, work will closely with other federal departments.

Meanwhile, the Senate naval committee recommended increased penalties for such crimes. The report said there was "widespread evidence" of espionage.

"A foreign spy may steal our military secrets," said the committee report, "take photographs of war vessels under construction, fly over our navy yards, penetrate our aircraft factories, damage or destroy planes and conspire with others to steal code books and secret reports and get off with a year or two in prison. If, in fact, he is given a prison term at all. This is the height of absurdity."

Another Mansion

Exclusive Sutton Manor Gasp Indignantly When Divine Angels Move In

New Rochelle, N. Y., June 16 (AP)—Exclusive Sutton Manor gasped indignantly today and muttered "something will have to be done" as Father Divine, negro cult leader, established a new "haven" in a three-story mansion.

His angels invaded the section yesterday, armed with mops and brooms to reconsecrate the mansion, obtained by Miss Harriet E. Cripe, white follower of Father Divine, in a sale by the Chase National Bank.

"Give me a cigarette so I can stand the shock," said Judge Lee Parsons Davis, who lives in a big house just across the road.

Digging into his law books, Corporation Counsel Aaron Simmons of New Rochelle said "something will have to be done to get them out."

Unperturbed, the angels continued their cleaning of the house, which John Lamb, white secretary of Father Divine, said would be used as a "private residence."

Lamb revealed Miss Cripe had taken title to the house for $7,500. It had sold for $50,000 in 1914.

King and Queen Homeward Bound

Halifax, Nova Scotia, June 16 (AP).—The royal tour of Canada is over now as Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King can quit carrying matches.

"The man behind the tour," as host and guide, the prime minister rose to every occasion—and that included the matches, although he doesn't smoke.

King George does. His lighter doesn't always work. He frequently wanted a match and the prime minister, close to the monarch throughout the 9,000-mile tour, was asked to supply the royal need.

Before the tour was over and their majesties had departed homeward last night aboard the Empress of Britain, Mr. King of Canada also was carrying cigarettes—for his friends.

He thinks it is too early yet to interpret the full significance of the tour, except that by it Canadians "had the opportunity to see the part played by the crown in the affairs of British communities," and with the visit to the United States their majesties "have shown what the power of good will can accomplish in the community, the nation and in international affairs."

The prime minister added that his impressions were such he thought it best to get off by a lake in the woods for a while and think about them.

Before returning to England King George and Queen Elizabeth will stop briefly on Saturday at Newfoundland, oldest of the British colonies.

As they departed Halifax last night to the cheers of thousands of Nova Scotians, their majesties had with them gifts for the children—the "must" for most parents who've been away on a trip.

The gifts included sets of Marten cuffs and muffs from the Canadian government, so that Princess Elizabeth and Margaret Rose will have an appropriate souvenir of Canada. Queen Elizabeth was given a twin silver fox stole with white gold clasp, and an arctic white fox stole was sent to Queen Mother Mary.

Huge bonfires, which should have been visible a 100 miles at sea, were part of the farewell celebration.

Hotels in the United States buy about 480,000 dozen sheets and 800,000 blankets annually.

Used Cars to Be 'Covered' by Law

Albany, June 16.—Commissioner Carroll E. Mealey, of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, has notified all registered automobile dealers in the state that effective September 1, 1939, they will be required to deliver to every purchaser of a used car written certification of its satisfactory mechanical condition.

This procedure is required of dealers in used cars by a new section of the Vehicle and Traffic law, enacted by the 1939 legislature and recently signed by the governor.

The certificate required under the law must contain the following information: Make, year of manufacture and engine number of the car, the name and address of the purchaser, the date of delivery to the purchaser; and certification that the brakes, lights and signaling device are mechanically adjusted to comply with the law, and that they are "in condition and repair to render, under normal use, satisfactory and adequate service upon the public highway at the time of delivery."

The law is designated to prevent the sale of vehicles which are unsafe for travel on the highway because of faulty brakes, headlights out of adjustment or other equipment not in satisfactory condition.

More than a million feet of dry holes were drilled for oil in California in 1938.

Demand Admission Cut

New York, June 16 (AP).—Demands for reduction in the New York World's Fair admission price from 75 to 50 cents and an immediate national-wide advertising campaign to increase attendance were voiced today in a resolution by 27 amusement concessionaires. Agitation for the admission cut has faced Grover Whalen, president of the fair, since the opening because attendance has been below official predictions.

One thing the matter with all dictators seems to be that they take themselves too seriously.

Anniversary Party

Port Ewen, June 16—The Ever Ready Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Arthur Fowler Monday evening, June 12. At the close of the business meeting the president, Mrs. Francis Palen, was presented with a bridal bouquet trimmed with small tin knives, forks and spoons, used on the shower, white ribbons and in behalf of the club members. Mrs. Charles Zimmerman presented Mrs. Palen with a gift in honor of her approaching 10th wedding anniversary. Dainty refreshments were served at a long table, the centerpiece being an appropriately decorated wedding cake. At each place as favors were long tin horns which the members used to serenade the greatly surprised bride of 1928, after extending hearty congratulations and best wishes. Members of the Ever Ready Club attending this event beside the guest of honor and the hostess were Alice Timmie, Clara Tinney, Ella Howe, Gladys Potter, Gladys Woolsey, Grace Zimmerman, Jennie Schweigel, Lillian Mable, Mary Bishop, Mary Van Leuven, Vivian Stadt and Gladys Jump of Port Ewen, and Mary Neal of Kingston.

A new insulating board now being featured by building material dealers combines the fibres of three "live" woods—cottonwood for strength, bay for formation and appearance, and pine for permanence. Plank, tile or panel effects are created.

KING AND QUEEN BID FAREWELL TO CANADA

Preliminary to boarding their ship, the Empress of Britain, (in background) for their return to England, King George and Queen Elizabeth are shown as their entourage reached Halifax, N. S., their last stop in Canada. Part of the enthusiastic crowd which assembled from the maritime provinces may be seen greeting the rulers.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Discipline
St. Louis, Mo.—A man came into Everett L. Paton's tavern, drank three beers, then plunked a revolver on the bar.

"This is a holdup," he announced. "Give me the money out of the cash register."
"Gwah—cut it out—I'm busy," growled Paton.

Meekly, the bad man picked up his gun—and walked out.

Knows Where
Denver—John Elbert Williams, an admitted burglar, needs new teeth.

So he withdrew his plea for probation and asked Judge Robert W. Steele to send him to prison. There he'll get a new set of false teeth, made in the dental ward, Judge Steele said okay.

Navy Colonel
St. Louis, Mo.—The navy is going to have a colonel.

Colonel F. Betz has just received his appointment to the Naval Academy at Annapolis. The "colonel" is Betz's given name.

High Falls
High Falls, June 15—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller and son, Lawrence, were entertained at the home of their daughter, and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hallenbeck, of Catskill, Sunday.

Otto Feith and friends of Long Island spent the week-end at their summer home here.

Albert Kanestrin spent his vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kanestrin.

John Ayers, Marvin Van Wagon, Miss Cynthia Van Wagon and Ruth Holtz of New York attended the service Sunday at the Clove Chapel.

Mrs. Jake Beatty and son, Franklin, and wife, of Poughkeepsie, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Weiss and niece of Brooklyn spent the week-end at their home. Mrs. Weiss and niece are staying for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pappas, Mrs.

'Giant Killer'

Shirley Ann Johnson (above) of Chicago sprang an upset at the women's western open golf meet at St. Louis by eliminating the favorite, Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, 1 up, in the quarter-final round.

Robert Clearwater and Roberta spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Countryman.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Anderson of Brooklyn are spending some time at their summer cottage.

Albert Goss of Brooklyn spent a few days at the Coppen home.

Mrs. E. Gray and son spent a few days in New York.

The two plays given by the 4-H Club Friday evening were successful.

Most Famous Stoic
Epictetus was a Greek Stoic philosopher who lived approximately between the years 50 and 120. He was born a slave in Phrygia, banished from Rome by Domitian and taught philosophy in Ephesus. The nobility and moral earnestness of the man and simplicity of his style have made him a favorite with many not otherwise interested in the subject which he taught and of which he wrote.

BARE FEET LEAD TO RECAPTURE

Robert M. Flint, (left) 19-year-old youth from Clifton, W. Va., and Edward R. Knox, 17, of Jester, Okla., shown after they were recaptured in Brooklyn, following their escape from Governor's Island military prison. They swam the channel to shore, but a policeman saw bare feet protruding from their hiding place on a pier and investigated.

Plead Not Guilty
In Still Case

New York, June 15 (Special)—Pleas of innocence were made before Judge Samuel Mandelbaum in United States District Court here today by two of the 16 men under indictment for the operation of an illicit still at Rabel Camp, Creek Locks.

The pair are Harry Mellows, alias Melos, and Ralph Pape. Each was released, pending trial, in his own recognizance.

The group are charged with running a 1,500-gallon still at the place in 1936 and 1937. Most of the co-defendants have already entered not guilty pleas.

ANTARCTIC EXPERIMENT

The statements of the world have a great opportunity to work out an objective plan for sharing natural resources on a fair and friendly basis. While the "have" and "have-not" nations quarrel over the accessible natural wealth of the world, concentrated in the possession of one group and coveted by the other group, they have become aware of other vast resources accessible at present to none.

These are the natural wealth locked in the frozen wastes of Antarctica. It will be many years, probably, before they can be profitably exploited. Most of today's leaders will be out of power before that time comes. New generations will be the ones to use the Antarctic resources.

Because no immediate gain can come to any holder of territory there, there is no need for an immediate scramble to stake out claims. Yet precisely such a scramble is now developing. Isn't this the time and the situation for trying out a few cooperative theories and practicing a new sort of international generosity?

A plan worked out for general use of whatever valuable things may at some remote day come out of the mountains of the South Polar lands might quiet a lot of unnecessary excitement. And in the resultant calm and sense of security for the future might come the bright idea of handling today's natural wealth problems by equally rational methods. Then it would no longer be necessary for nations to kill each other off in the struggle for economic power, and to destroy their own productive power in the process.

If this were England, every hot stand in the country would now be selling "em" "by special appointment of Their Majesties."

What has happened to the calendar, that makes this a presidential campaign year?

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act. SIMPLE AND DANGEROUS GOITRE

I was once examining a heavyweight wrestler and noted that both eyes were "bulging." I was surprised to see his excellent muscular development and examination of his heart showed a slow pulse. I told him I expected to find a rapid heart beat despite his development as I expected goitre. "Oh," he said, "I had that goitre out a couple of years ago. I was thin and nervous. I've put on forty pounds since the operation."

I have spoken before also of a physician whose heart rate dropped from 110 to 72 after removal of a goitre, and he lost much of his nervousness, excitability, and talkativeness.

Perhaps you know an individual who had a goitre—lump in front of his neck—when he was 15 years old, and twenty or thirty years after still has it, and apparently, has no symptoms. This is because goitres are not all alike; some are innocent or harmless and some must be removed by surgery or X-rays to preserve life.

The simple or innocent type of goitre usually develops between the ages of 12 and 17, at the period of greatest physical development. The only sign or symptom present is the growth or enlargement of the gland; there is no change in the structure or working process of the body. However, at middle age this type may develop into the more serious type.

What causes the simple type of goitre to turn into the severe type, resulting in rapid heart beat, nervousness, bulging eyes, and loss of weight and strength?

Dr. E. M. Eberts, Montreal General Hospital, who, with his associates investigated and treated 4,000 cases, in the Canadian Medical Association Journal.

"We do not know positively what starts the dangerous (poison) stage but careful inquiry brings out, in many instances, a history of infection especially from tonsillitis and influenza immediately preceding the onset of the dangerous form of goitre."

This dangerous type very often occurs where there has never before been any appearance of goitre. The individual is of middle age, more frequently a woman (5 to 1).

Fortunately, when nervousness, rapid heart beat, loss of weight, tiredness, are present, physicians suspect goitre and have a metabolism test made. If the body processes are working too fast, rest and iodine are prescribed. If this treatment fails, operation becomes necessary.

Nine helpful health booklets by Dr. Barton are now available for our readers. They may be obtained by sending ten cents for each one desired to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y., mentioning the Kingston Daily Freeman. Booklets are: Eating Your Way to Health, Why Worry About Your Heart?; Neurosis, The Common Cold; Overweight and Underweight; Food Allergy or Sensitivity; Scourge (gonorrhea and syphilis); How Is Your Blood Pressure?; Chronic Rheumatism and Arthritis.

Chapter Nine

Pursuing Packy

MR Jonathan Harland Adams was plumbing the nadir of despair. Ten days had now elapsed since he had been dispensed with at the door of Miss Patricia North's apartment. Ten gloomy days the termination of which found him no further along in any of his plans involving that young woman. But this hideous condition had not been brought about through lack of effort on his part. Having proved to himself that he had cracked up in a big way for Miss Patricia North, Jonathan Harland had seated himself and let his pen run riot on the day following his visit to her apartment. By mid-afternoon the postman had deposited in Patricia's letter-box a missive that should have caused a polar bear to put in a rush order for a consignment of electric fans.

But Tacks received no reply to this letter. In fact, he received no reply to the next four. The sixth epistle was returned to the Post Office Club unopened. So were the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth. And while this direct-by-mail campaign was failing so lamentably, Tacks had practically pitched his tent by a telephone. To date, however, his telephonic efforts had been unavailing. Either his ear had been rewarded by that hollow buzzing which signifies that the telephone is not at home or Miss Patricia North, answering and being informed who was calling, had straightway hung up on him.

All this Mr Adams reviewed moodily as he walked along toward the street upon which Packy had her abode. For Tacks, to his inner shame, had taken to haunting this thoroughfare by night, hoping for a glimpse of his goddess. Just what he would have done had she vouchsafed him a sight of herself he had no definite idea. Something, he assured himself, would have occurred to him. As yet, however, the problem had not arisen.

But he knew no other method of getting in touch with her. Perhaps if she saw him dejectedly overlooking the gutter, she would relent and toss him a conversational crust. It was worth trying, anyway. Furthermore, it was necessary to the game of North, South, East and West for which invention he had, figuratively speaking, kicked himself around the block a multitude of times during the past few days. He as the originator of this form of amusement was getting no fun whatever out of it. Whereas he had noted of late a series of satisfied expressions on the countenances of Messrs. Harkness, Steele and Cutler. In one way or another, these gentlemen had contrived to get it across to Tacks that they were making excellent progress with their respective assignments.

To lower his spirits even more, New York was in the grip of a fine and ubiquitous drizzle tonight. Against this evidence of elemental displeasure Tacks had arrayed himself in a brown felt hat with a dipping brim and a light raincoat. His appearance as he turned into Packy's street was not unlike that of the eminent Mr. Sherlock Holmes gum-shoeing his way to 42nd.

He took up a position in the shadow of an ambitious young maple tree whose trunk was protected by an iron contrivance and waited in sepulchral silence. About fifty yards away loomed Packy's apartment-house, a grim and forbidding pile.

Vale Of The Unlovely
THE night drizzled on Tacks turned up his coat collar and suffered a disquieting turn-of-orange alley cat, with a cauliflower ear and a leering expression, paused to investigate the cuffs of his trousers. Tacks reached down tickled its ear. He felt a certain community of soul with this creature. After all, they were both orphans of the storm, as it were, unwanted, unloved. If, and then, suddenly, he dropped the alley cat as if it had been a scorpion. From the entrance of the apartment house emerged a figure in a white raincoat. The heart of Mr. Tacks Adams there was the burnt-orange alley cat. There was the missing Patricia North in her tricky, missing rain-coat. And there was a cruising taxicab. Miss North raised a slim gloved hand and signaled the cab.

For a second Tacks had been so startled by Packy's sudden appearance that he had done nothing save gasp and allow his jaw to drop foolishly. Now, however, he perceived that action was going to be necessary. If Packy got into that cab, she would unquestionably be borne away into the night and zip would go the second opportunity he'd ever had to interview her in person. With this knowledge stabbing his brain, he darted forward quickly. But he reckoned without the burnt orange alley cat.

As Tacks got into motion, so did the alley-cat. Called upon to vie with the average biped in a foot-race, it is ten to one that the alley-cat would have left the biped at the feed-box. But tonight Tacks was not an average biped. A young man in love, witnessing the girl of his dreams about to be spirited away in a taxicab, is liable to make a bum out of an antelope. Tacks overhauled the alley-cat in the first two feet of the distance.

Had it been simply a case of overhauling and passing, all would have been well. But it wasn't. In some inexplicable manner the burnt-orange alley-cat became, for a second, firmly wedged between Tacks' ankles.

In these circumstances the progress of Mr. Adams was negligible. Without paying undue attention to form, he went into the air, shot forward head first and entered a gutter thickly populated by dirty rainwater, the oil that drips from the chassis of motorcars and discarded cigarette butts. Through this vale of the unlovely he slid on his chin for a distance of several feet.

He arose almost immediately with the intention of saying a word or two to the alley-cat before resuming speed. But the alley-cat, making passing noises indicative of disgust, had long since departed. And, perceived Mr. Adams, the taxicab with Miss Patricia North now stowed away inside was beginning to crawl toward Lexington Avenue where, mercifully, a traffic light would arrest its progress momentarily. Wherefore unmindful of his bruised chin and the rather questionable appearance of the entire front section of himself, Mr. Adams sprinted after the cab as he never sprinted down the gridiron in the name of Old Eli.

It had often been Tacks' privilege to note that the young lovelife of New York makes it a practice to leap on the back of taxicabs and so gain free transportation. This notation now proved valuable to him. He was within a few feet of the back of the cab when the Lexington Avenue traffic light showed green. He moved. Mr. Adams moved faster. With a flying leap he made the cab's rear bumper and crouched there clinging to the spare tire. The Jehu at the wheel, unaware of his non-paying passenger, began hitting a lively pace cross town.

The Heel Tap Club
AT FIFTH Avenue the cab turned south and was held up at the first numbered street by another traffic light. It paused, however, beside a second vehicle of a commercial nature. Tacks took advantage of this fortuitous condition. He bounded off the bumper of Packy's car and to the other one with commendable alacrity.

"Follow that cab," he directed his new chauffeur sternly. "Five bucks if you keep it in sight."

Packy's cab threaded its way through Fifth Avenue traffic at a brisk rate. But Tacks' driver kept a close trail. They passed the Plaza in good order. One after the other they swung into Fifty-seventh Street, roared along it. Through the window at the oak of the first car, Tacks could catch momentary glimpses of Packy's head. Regretfully, he shook his own head. What had he done to put her so definitely off his trail? They passed the Plaza in good order. One after the other they swung into Fifty-seventh Street, roared along it. Through the window at the oak of the first car, Tacks could catch momentary glimpses of Packy's head. Regretfully, he shook his own head. What had he done to put her so definitely off his trail? They passed the Plaza in good order. One after the other they swung into Fifty-seventh Street, roared along it. Through the window at the oak of the first car, Tacks could catch momentary glimpses of Packy's head. Regretfully, he shook his own head. What had he done to put her so definitely off his trail?

"Not a chance!" replied the cab-driver and put on such a gallant spurt that he only avoided ramming the back of Packy's car as it paused in deference to Sixth Avenue.

Between Sixth and Seventh Avenues Packy's driver slowed down and pulled into the curb. Tacks, craning his neck, perceived that the quarry's destination was obviously The Heel Tap, a night club whose popularity, he had heard, was on the rise.

"What'll I do now?" inquired his chauffeur.

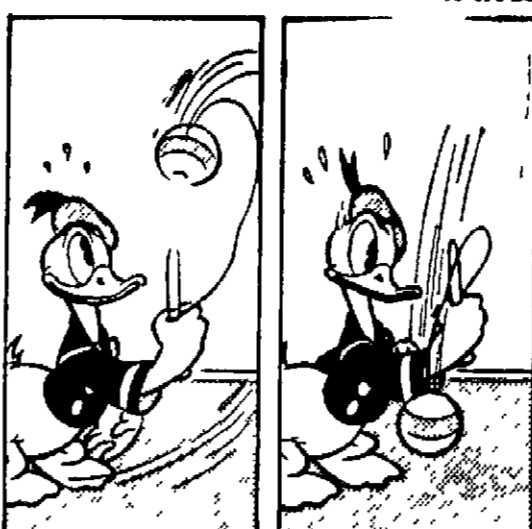

"Pull in," Tacks directed him. "But not too close to the entrance." Before the portal of The Heel Tap stood a personage who could have passed for a South American generalissimo in dress parade. A queerly shaped black velvet hat with a white plume slanting off the back of it, a dark-blue coat plentifully filigreed with gold-braid and trousers of a similar color highlighted by a broad red stripe running from hip to ankle set this individual apart from the average alley-cat. There was the missing Patricia North in her tricky, missing rain-coat. And there was a cruising taxicab. Miss North raised a slim gloved hand and signaled the cab.

At this precise moment in the world's history there were four entities in that street capable of animation. There was Mr. Tacks Adams. There was the burnt-orange alley cat. There was the missing Patricia North in her tricky, missing rain-coat. And there was a cruising taxicab. Miss North raised a slim gloved hand and signaled the cab.

Roosevelt Says To Broaden Tax

in charge of the $1,718,000,000 relief bill voted today to modify some of its proposed changes in the WPA program in an effort to head off an impending floor fight.

The subcommittee approved, in addition to some clarifying amendments, four changes in some of the provisions which have aroused the most opposition.

Specifically, they proposed to change the $25,000 limitation on WPA building construction projects so that the agency could spend up to $50,000 on federal buildings and $40,000 on federal non-federal projects. The subcommittee also approved amendments to restore to the bill provision permitting allocation of relief funds to regular federal salaries up to $50,000,000; to permit expenditure of up to $7 per month per worker for non-labor projects and to require that at least 5 per cent of the labor on WPA projects be taken from relief rolls. There is no requirement for relief labor on the WPA now.

The controversy complicated plans of the House leadership to whip the measure through before daylight.

Behind the scenes, some of President Roosevelt's legislative lieutenants were urging abandonment of the defeat of committee proposals to substitute a three-member board for the present WPA administration and to limit WPA building construction projects to $25,000 each.

Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA chief, told reporters late yesterday the cost limitation would "wash out many of our best projects."

He criticized the proposed administrative change as a mistake and declared the proposal to transfer $125,000,000 of WPA funds to the public works administration would result in a decrease of 170,000 relief workers in the next fiscal year.

Harrington said he did not agree with the committee recommendation to abandon WPA theatre projects.

"They employed a great number of persons in the only art to which they are adapted," he said, "and to discard the projects will throw a great many out of work. I was prepared to correct a number of mistakes that have been made and to carry on the projects in a new fashion."

Further criticism of some of the bill's provisions came from Secretary Ickes.

Youth Completes Studies At University in Ohio

Donald G. Jacobs, son of Mrs. Melissa V. Jacobs of 114 1/2 North Front street, has just completed a four year course of study in the College of Liberal Arts at Wilberforce University in Wilberforce, Ohio.

Mr. Jacobs while in college was a member of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Sword and Shield Honorary Fraternity, Sen Mer Rekh Honorary Fraternity, and a charter member of Tau Chapter, Zeta Sigma Pi Social Science Honorary Fraternity. He was also mentioned on the Dean's list for high scholastic record.

Thursday, Jun 8, the degree of Bachelor of Arts was conferred on Mr. Jacobs at the 76th annual commencement exercises of Wilberforce University.

Mr. Jacobs, after completing his college course is now at his home here.

Washington Is Growing Fast

Capital Will Spend Fifty Million Dollars for New Buildings.

WASHINGTON.—Washington is America's fastest growing city. Planners and builders are clearing the way to add $30,000,000 worth of new buildings to "the world's most beautiful capital."

They will inaugurate a new era in the development of the land set aside on the banks of the Potomac nearly a century and a half ago for the nation's central government. New workshops will spring up to house the army of government workers.

Construction will start this summer on a $10,815,000 initial section of a new war department building. Projected for the future is an adjoining structure four times as large.

Half again as much will be expended soon on homes for the social security and railroad retirement boards.

The navy is arranging for a $5,000,000 medical center at nearby Bethesda, Md.

Behind high board fences, workmen have started the $3,000,000 memorial to Thomas Jefferson down on the shores of the tidal basin.

Along the south margin of the Mall—the great open parkway extending from the Lincoln memorial to the national Capitol—a new Independence avenue is in the making to match Constitution avenue on the north.

Beyond the Capitol, the $10,000,000 modernistic annex to the classic Library of Congress nears completion. More than $18,000,000 of public works funds are financing a start on a new District of Columbia municipal center, libraries, schools, stadia and other city structures.

Congress provided the actual funds for the big new federal buildings. Work is continuing on various other structures, notably the $10,000,000 national art museum donated by the late Andrew Mellon.

Capital Being Remade.

Altogether, the national capital is being further remade in almost as spectacular a fashion as the recent construction of the half-mile long federal triangle block of buildings along historic Pennsylvania avenue.

The remodeling is costing a lot of money. Since 1926, when congress authorized a long-term development program, upwards of $200,000,000 has been spent on major structures. Officials of such agencies as the National Capital parks and planning commission and the treasury procurement division are convinced the results have justified the outlay.

Even with the projected buildings, they say, there will be insufficient office space for the swarm of government workers. Latest records list 118 buildings in the District of Columbia as rented in part or whole by the federal government, and 120 as government owned.

Functions of the war department alone are scattered in 19 buildings in the district and nearby Virginia and Maryland.

There is no natural phenomenon anywhere to compare to the Giant's Causeway, on the northern coast of Ireland, with its piled masses of hexagonal rocks, a gigantic and fantastic honeycomb in stone. It is one of the wonders of the world. No highway by the sea surpasses in grandeur the magnificent coast road which leads to it.

Scatter Rug Crocheted in Squares

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

You Can Make This Rug Any Desired Size

PATTERN 6414

Make your home cozy with this crocheted scatter rug. Easy to crochet, you can make it whatever size you need, for it's made of 8 1/2 inch squares. Pattern 6414 contains instructions for making the rug; illustration of it and of stitches; materials needed; color suggestions; photograph of the square.

To obtain this pattern send ten cents in coin to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

Two Are Injured As Truck Upsets

A truck belonging to Knauss Bros., Saugerties mushroom growers, carrying a number of men to their quarries at East Kingston, upset on the Flatbush road about half a mile from the school house, early this morning.

Two of the occupants of the truck, Nick Zinkow and Walter Overbaugh, were taken to the Benedictine Hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises. At the hospital this noon the men were reported to be not seriously injured.

Trooper Reilly was notified of the accident, but found on his arrival that Conners' ambulance had taken the two to the hospital. The sheriff's office was not notified.

Championship Cup Given to School 4

The dinner to Principal Garrison of No. 8 School at the Kirkland last night, was made the occasion for turning over to School No. 4 the loving cup emblematic of victory in the Grammar School Baseball League. The cup was placed before the seat of Principal R. H. Van Valkenburgh, who took charge of it for his school.

England and France are broad-minded debtors. They owe us a lot of money and still they are not mad at us.

ment have followed in the Far East."

The communique was issued as the Japanese-British crisis in China continued, with the Japanese army blockading the British and French concessions in Tientsin.

Two Chinese Killed

Tientsin, June 16 (AP)—Two Chinese handing food into the British concession were reported shot dead this morning by Japanese guards blockading the foreign area to press demands for full British "cooperation" in China.

The incident occurred near United States marine barracks. The informant who reported the incident said the Chinese were caught as they handed up a basket of vegetables.

There was some lessening of tension despite this first report of fatalities since the Japanese established their guard about the British and French concessions Wednesday morning.

The Japanese, however, continued to search persons entering or leaving the concessions. New demands advanced by the Japanese emphasized that the dispute—originally over the refuge given four Chinese wanted by the Japanese—was becoming one involving Britain's whole policy in China, perhaps the future of international trade in the Orient, and a test of the prestige between the British and the Japanese.

Considerable food was brought into the concessions last night, most of it going to the French markets since the Chinese apparently were avoiding too close association with the British.

Some quarters expressed concern over possible developments tomorrow, should the Japanese carry out plans to parade into the British concession to lay flowers on the graves of Japanese heroes of the Boxer uprising. It was considered unlikely, however, that the British would permit large numbers of Japanese to enter the concession.

Concern Here

Washington, June 16 (AP)—The Japanese blockade at Tientsin has evoked an expression of concern from the United States. Officials said last night that Eugene H. Dorman, American chargé d'affaires at Tokyo, told the Japanese foreign office this government was concerned over the possible effect of the blockade to American interests.

The American consulate general in Tientsin is located inside the British concession, which is under blockade.

Secretary Hull told reporters yesterday that exchanges of information are going on between the United States, Great Britain and France, but that there was no plan for the United States to participate in joint action with the other two nations.

Church to Have 76th Anniversary

On Sunday, June 18, the Reformed Protestant Dutch Church of the Comforter will celebrate the 76th anniversary of its organization. An interesting and appropriate program for the day has been prepared by the Rev. C. L. Palmer, for a number of years formerly pastor of the church and at present acting in the capacity of classical supervisor and by Paul E. Barnum, church organist.

In addition to the special services on Sunday, the Ladies' Aid Society of the church will serve an anniversary dinner in the church hall on Wednesday, June 21, at 5:30, at which the public will be welcome.

The church has been without a regular pastor since February last, but recently a call was extended to the Rev. Russell Damstra of the Minerva Reformed Church.

The program for Sunday, June 18, follows:

Dobbins Holds Up Train

Glenrock, Wyo. (AP)—An east-bound passenger train was rolling along right on top of its speedy schedule when the engineer peered ahead and saw a horse in the middle of the tracks. He reached for the brake lever and transcontinental passengers lulled time for an hour while the train crew untangled the horse's legs from the ties on a trestle he had attempted to cross. Finally they laid a carpet of box car doors over the ties so the horse could walk back to solid ground.

The old fashioned man who took pride in currying his driving horse once a day now has a son who operates an eight cylinder car and forgets to change the oil every two thousand miles.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, June 15—The public is invited to attend the Odd Fellows annual memorial service which will be held Sunday evening, 8 o'clock at the Olive Bridge M. E. Church. The program is sponsored jointly by Shokan I. O. O. F. and Olive Reformed Churches. Past District Deputy I. O. O. F. Arthur Trowbridge will preside as master of ceremonies. Speakers for the occasion will include the Rev. Mr. Hoffman, pastor of the Stone Ridge Reformed church and the Rev. Mr. Barringer of Krumville. The Odd Fellows memorial service has been held annually during the month of June for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Burgher of Mt. Tremper called on his sister, Miss Ollie Burgher Monday evening at West Shokan Heights. Lawrence J. Kelder and son, Danny, returned home to Montclair, N. J., Monday morning after a week-end stay at the West Shokan Heights homestead.

Charles H. Weidner, of Hickory Hill Farm was a business caller in Ashokan, Tuesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Jay Molyneaux of Kingston were entertained at dinner Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bishop at West Shokan Heights.

Relatives and friends about the community attended funeral services for Mrs. Luke Bell, which were held Sunday afternoon at the V. N. Lasher parlors in Woodstock. Burial was in Woodstock cemetery where rest the remains of Mrs. Bell's parents, also her eldest son, Henry, who accidentally shot himself while fox hunting in March, 1921.

Remodeling of the Bushkill Inn into modern apartments is being rushed by the local building contractor, Albert North. The job is providing employment to some half dozen community carpenters. E. C. Davis cut several loads of alfalfa and clover, new seeding Monday afternoon.

Congratulations are extended the community's oldest and beloved resident, Mrs. Jane Ann Burgher who celebrated her 86th birthday anniversary Sunday. Mrs. Burgher continues hale and hearty and enjoys a host of blessings as the days come and go.

A week-end crowd of approximately 20 city guests were entertained at Maple Dell Farm. Members of the Dolan family are spending the week at their permanent home in Hollis, L. I. Miss Mary Crispell accompanied on the trip as housekeeper.

Otis Bardin vacated the Bishop residence at Brodhead, Saturday and moved into the John Hughes property adjacent the entrance of High Point Camp. Robert L. Longyear, Jr., of Brooklyn, was entertained over the week-end with the Davis family at West Shokan Heights. Mrs. Longyear, who had been spending the week with her parents, returned Sunday evening with her husband, accompanied by her sister, Miss Cornelia Davis. Miss Davis who recently graduated from the New York State School of Home Economics at Cobleskill taking the opportunity to enjoy the sights of the big city including the World's Fair.

Ethelmae Jones, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Jones of Kingston, recently received her Bachelor of Arts degree at Limestone College, Gaffney, S. C., where she majored in English and Education. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are well known locally and are frequent visitors here.

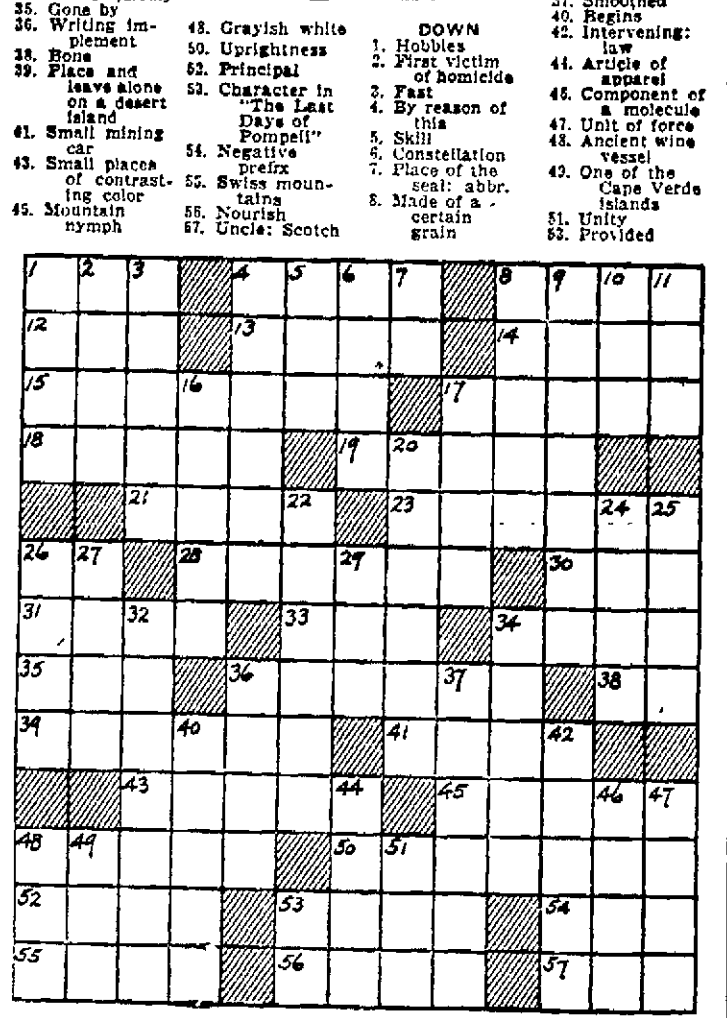

The Rev. Mr. Bailey of Phoenicia, addressed a large congregation at the Sunday afternoon services held at the West Shokan Baptist Church. Mrs. Robert Longyear, Jr., occupied her former seat as organist. Services will be held again next Sunday at 2:30 p.m. The public is extended an invitation to be present and hear Mr. Bailey.

Judge Fred L. Weidner is undergoing treatment by Dr. John C. Gross of Phoenicia for a recently developed stomach disorder. He was taken ill Saturday upon returning from a trip to Kingston with Mrs. Weidner.

Tribute Is Paid John H. Garrison

with evident feeling, spoke briefly, expressing his great appreciation of the tribute that had been rendered to him and of the spirit of helpfulness and good will that he had always experienced in his association not only with the members of his faculty, but with the superintendent and other officials of the school system and with the principals of the city schools.

Forty Years of Service
With the closing of this school year Mr. Garrison completes some 40 years of service in the profession of teaching. A graduate of New Paltz Normal, he began his teaching career in one of the schools in that part of Ulster county. He later spent nearly three years in the school at Milton, was located for two years at Tappan, N. J., and 25 years ago came from that place to Kingston. Since that time he has served as principal of No. 8 school in this city. He said to the writer Thursday night, "There are two circumstances under which a man may work — good circumstances and bad circumstances. I have been a fortunate man for I have been so situated that my work has been done under good circumstances. We have had two superintendents of schools since I have been in Kingston—Myron J. Michael and B. C. Van Ingen—and both have been fine men."
Mr. Garrison said that he expected to retain his home in Kingston. As to his future activity nothing was said, but a hint may be found in the fact that as a parting gift from his teachers in No. 8 School he found upon his arrival home a fine fishing outfit. His friends will wish for him nothing but good luck, both in his fishing and otherwise.

Mark Pennington Made Movie Models

All the models in the picture, "Only Angels Have Wings," now being shown at the Broadway Theatre, were made by Mark Pennington at studios in Hollywood, Calif. Among others he has made was one in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington." After being photographed it was autographed by Frank Capra, director, and sent to Washington.

Mr. Pennington is now working on "Arizona," a picture to be released featuring Tucson, Ariz., in 1938. Mr. Pennington is the son of Mrs. Ida M. Pennington of 74 Main street.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

School No. 2
The final meeting of the current school year of the Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 2 was held Tuesday afternoon with the president, Mrs. John Form, presiding.

The banner for attendance was awarded to the classes of Miss Caroline Arnold and Miss Minnie Osterhout.

Election of officers for the coming year took place with the following elected: President, Mrs. John Form; first vice-president, Mrs. Harry Richter; second vice-president, Mrs. B. A. Culloton; secretary, Mrs. S. Barnovitz; and treasurer, Mrs. A. Rosenthal.

Mrs. A. H. Russell, chairman of the nominating committee, presided during the nominations and election. Mrs. George Simpkins, president of the Federated Council, installed the new officers.

After the business meeting tea was served in honor of Miss Caroline Arnold who is retiring after many years of service at School No. 2. Mrs. Frank O'Reilly and Mrs. B. A. Culloton poured.

As a parting gift and in recognition of Miss Arnold's efforts with the children of the school, a purse and a pair of gloves were presented by Mrs. Russell, in the name of the association, with fitting and appropriate words.

Two piano selections, "Für Elise" by Beethoven, and "Serenade" by Driede, were played by Dorothy Walter, a pupil in the school.

Probing Student Branding
Baltimore, June 16 (AP)—The grand jury began today its own investigation into the branding of a Jewish student by Swastikaed youths, summoning 18 witnesses, including several who previously had testified in the school board's inquiry. Concerned specifically with assault charges made by two students at the Gwynn's Falls Junior High School against Morton Rosen, 19, after what police said was a retaliatory attack, the jury also subpoenaed Melvin Bridge, 14. The branding of Bridge precipitated both investigations causing suspension of 18 students in the Gwynn's Falls School and four in the City College, a senior high school.

Many New York flock owners have found that it pays to move their sheep from one pasture to another every two or three weeks during the grazing season.

Wise women, these budgeteers. They're the wives of the butchers and bakers and candlestick makers, and plumbers and bankers and merchants. They live on your street, on the boulevard, everywhere—they're all of us! They have good taste and love luxury. But they're on a budget (and who isn't).

So, they had to develop a nose for quality, and sharpen their sense of value, and they've made a grand job of it. That's why they're so enthused about Roley-Poley slip covers. They poked at them, pulled them, prodded them, picked at the corded welt seams, examined the floral patterns, felt the fullness of the flounce, then rendered their verdict—"Custom Quality".

Drunken Driver Goes to Jail in Default of $50

Theodore Weber of Olive Bridge, who was arrested on 9-W yesterday by Trooper Reilly on a charge of operating a car while intoxicated, was arraigned before Justice R. J. Mooney this forenoon. The judge found him guilty and imposed a fine of $50 or 50 days in the Ulster county jail. In default of the cash Weber was committed to jail.

Youths Wreck Summer Cottage at West Park

Harry T. Briggs came up from the city Wednesday to visit his summer cottage near West Park, only to find it a scene of devastation. The place had been completely wrecked, with furniture broken, furnishings strewn around and numerous articles missing. The State Police were notified and Troopers Metzger and Fordham of the B. C. I. started an investigation that finally led them to the Wiltwyck School for boys. Further inquiries proved that about a dozen boys from the school, ranging from seven to 12 years of age, had been responsible for the damage done. However, according to Trooper Metzger, Mr. Rummell, superintendent of the school, did everything possible to cooperate with the officers and further agreed to settle with Mr. Briggs for the damage he had sustained.

Robert Brazee Is Fatally Stricken

Was Seized With Heart Attack at Cornell Park on Thursday

Robert Brazee of 21 East Pierpont street was fatally stricken with a heart attack Thursday afternoon at Cornell Park on Wurts street. He was rushed to the Kingston Hospital in the corner ambulance but was dead on arrival there.
Mr. Brazee had been in the park but a short time when stricken. Police headquarters was called and sent the ambulance, while others called the Rev. Henry E. Herdgen of St. Peter's Church, who administered the last rites of the church.
At the hospital Dr. Frederick Carr, who had been notified that the ambulance was bringing Brazee to the hospital, pronounced him dead.
Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lillian Williams Brazee, two sons, Robert and Joseph Brazee, both of Kingston; eight daughters, Mrs. William Keating, Mrs. Vivian Fisher, Mrs. Frank Sessler and the Misses Rita and Margaret Brazee, all of this city; Mrs. Charles Casswell of Jersey City, Mrs. Walter Maechler of Union City, N. J., and Miss Theresa Brazee of Jersey City, and a brother, John Brazee of this city.
Funeral services will be held from the late home on Monday morning at 9 o'clock and from St. Mary's Church at 9:30 o'clock where a requiem Mass will be offered. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Youth of City To Hold Service

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 16 (AP)—Offerings tended to fade in today's stock market and leaders, after a slippery start, managed to get back small portions of yesterday's substantial losses.

While there was an assortment of small declines near the final hour, gains of fractions to a point or so predominated. Dealings were a bit sluggish, with transfers at the rate of approximately 450,000 shares.

Brokers suggested speculative sentiment again inclined to the conservative mainly because of the British-Japanese Far Eastern tension. At the same time, moderate cheeriness developed at home where sufficient to stem the selling wave which hit the list Thursday.

Stocks at London steadied. The Paris Bourse weakened and Amsterdam was irregular. Bonds and commodities were well mixed.

Support was accorded Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, Union Carbide, Edgewater Chemical, Santa Fe Southern Railway, Standard Oil of N. J. and Texas Corp.

Heavy Decline in Stocks Thursday

Stocks broke sharply yesterday, registering the heaviest decline since April 8, but trading was at a much lower rate, total shares changing hands yesterday being 580,000 as against a total of 1,840,570 on the April date. Upward of two-thirds of the loss was sustained in the last hour of trading when 260,000 shares of the day's total were traded in. At the close industrial issues averaged were down 3.09 points, to 134.41; rails showed a loss of 0.58 point, to 27.15 and utilities were off 0.32 point, to 23.45. Domestic news was not unfavorable, but increasing tension over British-Japanese relations undoubtedly was a strong factor in the decline.

The London market remained unsettled, with prices lowered in all sections as a precautionary measure. Amsterdam Bourse was very quiet, but price changes were slight and the undertone firm. Paris was steady in inactive trading.

Commodity market was irregular, with the index dropping 0.18 point for the day. Cotton declined four to eight points; wheat was off ¼ cent a bushel in Chicago and last and cocoa made new lows. Domestic and world sugar contracts developed firmness.

Final report on carloadings for last week shows a total of 634,597, a gain of 66,865 over the previous week. It was a high mark for this year and largest total since week of December 3.

Barron's business index showed a good rise for the week ended June 10, being up to 69 per cent of normal as against 64.8 per cent in the preceding week. The year's high, 76.8 per cent, was registered the first week in January. Year ago the figure stood at 51.8 per cent.

France has placed an order in the U. S. for 40 seaplanes. It appears that American firms, damaged to the extent of some $50,000,000 by the Black Tom explosion in 1916, will probably receive something around 50 cents on the dollar as a result of the recent decision holding the German government responsible for the explosion. Among companies having claims are the Lehigh Valley Railroad, $9,000,000; Bethlehem Steel, $2,000,000; Canadian Car & Foundry, $6,000,000. The decision was made by Justice Roberts acting as umpire for the Mixed Claims Commission. A previous decision, at Hamburg, favoring Germany, was set aside on the ground that certain witnesses were guilty of perjury and fraud.

Second quarter earnings on steel operations of U. S. Steel are expected to be under the first three months, when $660,551 was earned. Cuts in prices and operations are responsible for the showing.

With a sharp rise in demand Mueller Brass showed earnings of more than 55 cents a share for the quarter to May 31, as against 45 cents in the preceding quarter.

American Light & Traction reports net earnings of $5,111,655 for 12 months ended April 30, net of $5,366,346 in previous year.

United Light & Power had net of $350,026, vs. $4,772,940 in preceding year. Continental Gas & Electric net of $3,443,822, vs. net of $4,329,919.

Mid-Continent Petroleum had net loss of $37,957 in the first quarter of this year vs. net income in the 1938 quarter of $468,311.

Reo Motor lost $277,942 as against loss of $512,538 year ago. For the 12 weeks ended June 3, Masonite had net of $258,380 vs. $246,685 in 1938 period.

Heavy Decline in Stocks Thursday

Stocks broke sharply yesterday, registering the heaviest decline since April 8, but trading was at a much lower rate, total shares changing hands yesterday being 580,000 as against a total of 1,840,570 on the April date. Upward of two-thirds of the loss was sustained in the last hour of trading when 260,000 shares of the day's total were traded in. At the close industrial issues averaged were down 3.09 points, to 134.41; rails showed a loss of 0.58 point, to 27.15 and utilities were off 0.32 point, to 23.45. Domestic news was not unfavorable, but increasing tension over British-Japanese relations undoubtedly was a strong factor in the decline.

The London market remained unsettled, with prices lowered in all sections as a precautionary measure. Amsterdam Bourse was very quiet, but price changes were slight and the undertone firm. Paris was steady in inactive trading.

Commodity market was irregular, with the index dropping 0.18 point for the day. Cotton declined four to eight points; wheat was off ¼ cent a bushel in Chicago and last and cocoa made new lows. Domestic and world sugar contracts developed firmness.

Final report on carloadings for last week shows a total of 634,597, a gain of 66,865 over the previous week. It was a high mark for this year and largest total since week of December 3.

Barron's business index showed a good rise for the week ended June 10, being up to 69 per cent of normal as against 64.8 per cent in the preceding week. The year's high, 76.8 per cent, was registered the first week in January. Year ago the figure stood at 51.8 per cent.

France has placed an order in the U. S. for 40 seaplanes. It appears that American firms, damaged to the extent of some $50,000,000 by the Black Tom explosion in 1916, will probably receive something around 50 cents on the dollar as a result of the recent decision holding the German government responsible for the explosion. Among companies having claims are the Lehigh Valley Railroad, $9,000,000; Bethlehem Steel, $2,000,000; Canadian Car & Foundry, $6,000,000. The decision was made by Justice Roberts acting as umpire for the Mixed Claims Commission. A previous decision, at Hamburg, favoring Germany, was set aside on the ground that certain witnesses were guilty of perjury and fraud.

Second quarter earnings on steel operations of U. S. Steel are expected to be under the first three months, when $660,551 was earned. Cuts in prices and operations are responsible for the showing.

With a sharp rise in demand Mueller Brass showed earnings of more than 55 cents a share for the quarter to May 31, as against 45 cents in the preceding quarter.

American Light & Traction reports net earnings of $5,111,655 for 12 months ended April 30, net of $5,366,346 in previous year.

United Light & Power had net of $350,026, vs. $4,772,940 in preceding year. Continental Gas & Electric net of $3,443,822, vs. net of $4,329,919.

Mid-Continent Petroleum had net loss of $37,957 in the first quarter of this year vs. net income in the 1938 quarter of $468,311.

Reo Motor lost $277,942 as against loss of $512,538 year ago. For the 12 weeks ended June 3, Masonite had net of $258,380 vs. $246,685 in 1938 period.

Buy Stamford Hotel

An important real estate transaction took place in Stamford last week when Samuel D. Harris of Stamford purchased the Stamford Arms Hotel from the Ulster County Savings Institution of Kingston. The hotel, which is one of the larger ones in the village, with more than 50 sleeping rooms, is said to be a valuable piece of property, through its advantageous location on Main street, the good condition of the building and the modern furnishings within. Almost all the rooms are equipped with bath and shower and furnished in excellent taste. There is a bar and grill in the lower part of the building.

You can buy built-in furniture for your home and a built-in radio for your car but it's still impossible to purchase a set of built-in teeth.

Grammar School in New York Is 175 Years Old

NEW YORK.—Columbia grammar school is celebrating its 175th birthday as the oldest non-sectarian school in the United States.

The school, founded in 1764 as a preparatory institute for King's college, now Columbia university, opened with 27 scholars, each of whom was required to provide "one load of nut wood for the use of the school" as part of his annual tuition fee.

In 1776 the school went out of existence for eight years when it was seized for military purposes during the Revolution. It re-opened in 1784 with William Cochran, of Trinity college, Dublin, as headmaster.

With the exception of Franklin's academy in Philadelphia, Columbia grammar school was the first school devoted exclusively to general rather than religious training.

French Use Microbes to Give Any 'Age' to Wine

PARIS.—Good, aged wine—from microbes—is the latest fad these days.

Through the help of the Pasteur Institute, famous for its researches into harmful microbes, winemakers today are able to obtain supplies of microbes best suited for their particular brands of grape juice.

The combination of these harmless microbes and heat will result in giving wine an "age" of 20 years within 12 months. The same process has been developed for some of France's choice cheeses, one company even setting up a factory abroad to Turn to Lie-Detector Clyde, O., June 16 (AP)—Authorities turned to lie-detector tests today in their desperate hunt for clues leading to the slayer of 10-weeks-old Haldon "Buster" Fink, found in a nearby creek 12 hours after being snatched from his crib. Earlier hopes that fingerprints might help in solving the case were virtually wiped out as experts reported no prints were found on the knob from the front door of the home where the child was stolen. Members of the family had been fingerprinted voluntarily.

After discussion of same, it was voted to give the order to William Hardenbergh, his bid being the lowest. Work to be done at once.

Mrs. Shufeldt reported that the metal strip in the doorway of the Children's Ward had not been completed as yet.
Mrs. Parker Brinnier, who had been appointed by the president as committee of one to interview Howard Capp, manager of Town House of Woodstock, in reference to horse show.

Mrs. Brinnier reported that Mr. Capp was generously offering to put on a horse show at Woodstock for the benefit of the Kingston Hospital, in appreciation of the gracious care and recovery of Mrs. Capp at that institution. The day of the horse show to be selected by the auxiliary.

It was decided to accept the gracious offer of Mr. Capp and the committee selected Saturday, August 19, for the day.

The president gave Mrs. Brinnier as chairman power to select her own committee and make all arrangements.

Mrs. R. Frederic Chidsey was appointed by the president as publicity chairman, committee of one.

Mrs. Snyder stated that the Curtis Publishing Co. would solicit the city for magazine subscriptions, Hospital Auxiliary to receive percentage of sales.

Names were given out by the president to solicit for membership during the summer.

The president appointed Mrs. Mortimer E. Wicks, Mrs. C. Ray Everett and Mrs. Arthur L. Colligan, as nominating committee for coming year.

Refreshments were served by Miss Porter following adjournment of the meeting.

Harriet Sutton Chidsey,
Recording Secretary.

Cabinet Makers' Work

From Cradle to Coffin

The scope covered by the work of Chester county, Pa., cabinet makers was literally from the cradle to the coffin. The daybooks are filled with orders for these two articles, which with that other symbol of man's recumbency, the bed, seems to have been the most popular furniture of the day. In between, of course, were the various articles which a man used and from which he drew a large measure of comfort during his earthly existence, writes David Stockwell in "American Collector". There were chairs, tables for dining and other purposes, chests of drawers for storing his clothes, desks for his accounts and letters, tall clocks to measure the passing of time, and sundry items that filled the home of the Eighteenth and early Nineteenth centuries. All these were made, and made well, by the cabinet makers of Chester county.

According to the records, however, it was late in the Eighteenth century before any craftsman of this section actually styled himself cabinet maker. The reason is not far to seek if one remembers that Chester county had no large centers of population at the time.

There was no courthouse in Goshen and the town of West Chester was not only unincorporated, but consisted of a little group of houses at a crossroads known as Turk's Head. Through the hills and hollows of the county, every township, hamlet or tiny cluster of houses had its own group of artisans. These were a cooper, a tailor, a potter, a wheelwright, a joiner, a whitesmith, a blacksmith, and possibly, if the farmers were prosperous enough, a silversmith and a cabinet maker.

Washington Still a Forest

When First Congress Met

Washington still was just a forest on the Potomac "some place between the mouths of the Eastern Branch and the Connochoqueague." The United States was a government on paper. It had a Constitution, freshly ratified, writes Robert C. Albright in the Washington Post. It lacked a President, a legislature and a judiciary, all duly provided in storehouse document.

In New York a small group of perplexed gentlemen impatiently were trying to muster a quorum for the first congress under that Constitution. The quorum wouldn't muster. It looked as though it never would. It was, in fact, March 4, 1789, a sizeable span back across the arc of years that have since linked 75 congresses in unbroken progression and cemented a loose confederation into a power among nations.

But the gray dawn of that day in 1789 was not an auspicious start for a daring young government. Faint words penned into a faded old journal tell the story of that first meeting of the first congress.

"The number not being sufficient to constitute a quorum, they adjourned from day to day."

Out of 22 elected senators only 8 were present. Of 59 representatives but 14 were on hand. From "day to day" stretched into weeks. It was 27 days before the house could count a quorum. It was another six days before the senate could proceed.

What About Mu?

The mythical continent of Mu is pictured as having sunk in the Pacific just as the equally mythical land of Atlantis in the Atlantic. A map of Mu which has been exhibited is a contour map of the bottom of the Pacific ocean based on soundings. Hindu tablets discovered in India are alleged to show that the continent of Mu sank about 10,000 B. C., destroying 64,000,000 persons, including a ruling race of whites. None of these, nor their works, were saved, unless we except the carved rocks on some of the South Sea islands, the peaks of which were not submerged. Lemuria is another hypothetical continent in the Indian ocean, including Madagascar and other islands and home of the genus of mammals known as lemurs.

Work May Solve Play Problem

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW

THE PROBLEM

THE ANSWER

If your youngster is transgressing—especially when it's anything as dangerous as matches—what's to be done? The mother of this child finds it best to substitute "do" for "don't" to get results.

So, instead of getting out the hairbrush mother suggests that daughter work the lights. And daughter feels pretty responsible about her job. Matches are child's play after the fun of pushing the lamp switch.

Box Car 'Raided'

By Local Police

Driving his car with Florida license plates while he is a resident of New York state, cost James Sottile of 139 Pine Grove avenue, a fine of $5 when he was arraigned before Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court today. Sottile was arrested this morning by Officer Soper.

Harold Bennett of Roseton was arrested Thursday afternoon on John street, charged with operating a car without having an operator's license. This morning he was fined $5.

About 3 o'clock this morning Officers Hess, Howard and Burger raided a box car on the Catskill Mountain Division siding on Fair street extension and arrested James Burns, 40, of Brooklyn, Jules Jardon, 64, of Hudson, and William Lapara, 34, of Hazelton, Pa., who they found asleep in the box car, on charges of vagrancy.

Later in the morning sentences of 10 days each in the county jail was suspended, provided they left town at once.

James P. McElowney, 47, and James Kelly, 43, both of New York, an dDelbert Farrell, 35, of Glens Falls, were arrested Thursday by Officer Hess charged with parading on Fair street. Sentences of 10 days in jail were suspended if they were out of the city within the hour.

Deer Seen Near

Fairmont Avenue

A fine doe deer which came from the direction of the Burgevin property went through the Fairmont avenue section Thursday and continued on toward Forsyth Park.

Phoenicia Troop

Plans Activities

The troop committee of Troop 60 of Phoenicia met at the Central Hotel Wednesday evening for organization and to select a scoutmaster and assistant for the troop. Committee members Raymond J. Dunn, Joseph Gordon, William C. Weyman, Flavius Dibble and Francis Martocci were present as also were Charles Weldner, commissioner for the Western District, Scout Executive Burns, Chairman Edward West of the court of honor committee and William Cruickshank.

Francis Martocci was elected chairman of the committee with power to organize his group. The committee selected William Weyman as scoutmaster and Raymond J. Dunn as assistant. The plan is to have these men become acquainted with their duties and in September the troop will reorganize and regular meetings start.

Doesn't Live There

Earl Finley of this city, when arrested on a charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated some time ago, gave his address as 25 Adams street. Residents at this address declare he does not live there.

Troop Court of Honor

At Plattekill Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock, a troop court of honor for Troop 77 will be held at the Grange Hall in Plattekill. Advancement in rank from tenderfoot to second class will be given to Paul Arnold, George Barclay, Richard Barclay, William Barr, Roland Carpenter, Earl DeWitt, Donald Fleming, Raymond Shea, George Stuart, Harold Vager.

The Rev. Philip Solbjor of Modena, scoutmaster, will have charge of the program.

Helpful information for farmers interested in making grass silage is given in Cornell bulletin E-409. For a free copy, write to the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, New York.

Vaccination of pullets for fowl-pox is not urged unless poultrymen have already had trouble with it.

Regional Booklet Now Distributed

The attractive and interesting booklet representing Region 3 of New York state at the World's Fair is off the press and is now being distributed free to visitors to the New York state building at the fair.

Region 3 is composed of the counties of Ulster, Rockland, Sullivan and Orange and in the forward of the monograph is described as "Beginning only a few miles north of the New Jersey end of the George Washington Bridge from New York city, has its base in the world-famed Palisades, takes in the Ramapo, Highlands, Shawangunks and comes to a towering climax in the Catskill Mountains." It is characterized as "one of the most distinctive, picturesque, historical, productive and progressive of any comparable territory the country over."

The monograph is profusely illustrated with half-tone pictures, more than a hundred of them, of scenery, historic buildings, industrial plants, summer and winter sport scenes, noted personages, public buildings and the like, from the entire region.

Entitled "Palisades-Catskills Region," the outside front cover carries fine pictures of the Old Senate House, Hook Mountain, the cadets on dress parade, representing respectively Ulster, Rockland and Orange counties, while in the center stand two fishermen—a lad and an older devotee of the sport—holding up fine specimens of the big trout for which Sullivan county is famous.

The first illustration in the book itself is a picture of the old covered bridge near Rifton. Ulster county has the first section and among pictures shown are Kingston's city hall, high school, hospital, Ashokan Reservoir, Lake Mohonk, the old Dutch church, the Beatty farmhouse and one of the old Huguenot houses of New Paltz. There are also numerous sport scenes, including swimming, fishing, skiing, golfing, horseback riding, hunting, etc.

Ulster county's section of the monograph was financed by the Board of Supervisors. The committee which supervised collection of material and its arrangement was headed by Albert Kurdt, the other members being Howard Grimm and Allan A. Hanstein.

Bears, Huskies Are Favorites; City Loop 2nd Half Opens June 20

Western Crews Have the East's Coaches Scared

Navy Outstanding Eastern Crew—Gus Schatzel, of Kingston, Rowing With Columbia Tomorrow

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 16 (AP)—Those big, bad bogey-men from the west are in again, and they've got the east's college rowing coaches scared right out of their wits.

Of the seventeen varsity races held on the Hudson since 1921, California and Washington have won nine. In their non-winning years, one or the other has finished second all but twice. Tomorrow, California will be a heavy favorite to rack up No. 10 for the west in the four-mile pull, and Washington, radically revamped and greatly improved since its six-length defeat by the bears two months ago, is a good bet for second.

"But what can we do about it?" one of the eastern coaches complained today. "Nothing, so long as the race is run under the present set-up."

Time Too Short

"The western schools, with open water almost all year round, practice in the fall and start in again in February. In mid-April, they race at three miles. From then on, they have nothing to do but work for Poughkeepsie and its four miles. What do we have to do? At the time the westerners settle down to four-mile workouts, we're barely beginning our sprint season. When that's over, we have just about two weeks in which to drill the boys for an entirely different type of race."

"What's more, their classes end early in May. From then on, they can work twice a day. Heck, some of our kids are still worrying about examinations no more than a week before the race."

Shorten Distance

Obviously class-room schedules can't be reared to suit the rowing schedules. And nobody, since Mark Twain first said it has been able to do anything about the weather. But this coach feels it would be at least a partial solution to cut the varsity distance to three miles.

"That would lift some of the mental burden off the boys," he explained. "They can row four miles, sure. But they can't do it half as well when they go into a race knowing California and Washington have been rowing at that distance for two months, and they've been doing it for only two weeks."

Navy East's Best

Despite all this pessimism, however, the eastern eight will be in there giving their best. Their best looks like Navy, last year's record-breaking winner, and Cornell, which beat Navy, Harvard and Syracuse and lost by only 10 feet to Yale in the Carnegie Cup race. Lack of the proper drive seems to be hobbling the Ithacans right now, although Coach Harrison Sanford is hopeful of having his sweep-swingers keyed up by starting time at 6 p. m. tomorrow.

Kingston Oarsman

Up at the Columbia boat house, where the Lions have been working hard for 10 days, Coach Hubert Glendon is saying little but Columbia is hopeful of making an even better showing than last season when the Light Blue eight rowed into fourth place, behind Navy, California and Washington. In the Columbia boat are six veterans of the 1938 Poughkeepsie crew, including Augustin Schatzel, a graduate of Kingston High School.

As has always been true, the four-mile classic will present one of sport's most spectacular pictures at 6 p. m., when Referee Julian Curtiss raises his big megaphone to send them churning away on their long trek to the finish line. Reservations for the observation track indicate that more spectators than in any other recent year will be aboard the gaily bedecked cars. Plans are also being made to provide anchorage for more ocean-going yachts and small craft than in any recent season.

Several hundred midshipmen of the United States Naval Academy, off on their summer cruise, will view the race from six destroyers, cheering the Navy varsity in its attempt to defend the brilliantly won title of 1938.

The three races are scheduled for 4 o'clock, 5 o'clock and 6 o'clock, daylight saving time, with the freshmen, junior varsity and varsity events scheduled in that order.

The drawing for lanes: Freshman Race (two miles) 4 p. m.—1, California; 2, Wisconsin; 3, Syracuse; 4, Cornell; 5, Washington; 6, Columbia. Junior Varsity Race (three miles) 5 p. m.—1, Washington; 2, Cornell; 3, Navy; 4, California; 5, Syracuse; 6, Columbia. Varsity Race (four miles) 6 p. m.—1, Columbia; 2, Cornell; 3, Navy; 4, Wisconsin; 5, Syracuse; 6, Washington; 7, California.

Gehrig Awaits News
Rochester, Minn., June 16 (AP)—Lou Gehrig, who's made plenty of news in his time, was waiting for some today. The Yankee first baseman, who came here Tuesday to find out what, if anything, was the matter with him, had a tip from Mayo Clinic physicians that they might have something to announce before the day is over. In the meantime, he was scheduled to keep going down the examination line to complete the general physical check-up, which usually takes three days.

Kingston Oarsman Rows With Columbia Tomorrow

When Columbia University crew makes its bid in the Intercollegiate Regatta on the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie Saturday evening, starting at 6 o'clock, Augustin Schatzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustin Schatzel of 79 Andrew street, this city, will be rowing for the Lions. Young Schatzel, third from the left, in this picture of the Columbia boatload, is a graduate of St. Peter's parochial school, and of Kingston High School. This is how the Columbians will line up for the big race: Left to right, stroke to bow: Henry Wheeler, William Keutgen, Augustin Schatzel, of Kingston, N. Y.; Henry Brose, Henry Remmer, Edward Gray, John Fremi and Hugh Bower. Coxswain is John Fraser.

Grunies and Indies in Crucial City League Game Tonight

Grunewalds and Jack Dawkins' Independents collide in the crucial City League twilight contest tonight on the Athletic Field at 6:30. With the first half championship at stake, the league-leading Indies must cop the tilt to throttle the pennant surge of the rejuvenated Jones Dairy outfit.

If Grunies pull the prize upset of the year in this evening's replay of the sensational 8-3 contest last week, Jones Dairy and the Indies will compete for the first half flag. Jones have completed their first half slate with a record of six wins and two losses. Riding at six won, on lost, Dawkins outfit will be clean locked if they drop tonight's clash. Grunies will be out to salvage a disappointing first-half showing by trimming the Merchants. Lefty Bud Swarthout will toe the mound in the Indies pennant drive while young Johnny Strubel will bozz em by for the revengeful Grunies.

Hot Mound Duel

Swarthout and Strubel should look up in a copyrighted mound duel. Swarthout has been a leading factor in the Indies drive while Strubel's relief hurling has been excellent. The largest crowd of the season is expected to attend this all-important contest.

Grunies, greatly bolstered by their K. H. S. trio of Lindhurst, Gavis and Decker, should cause Manager Dawkins plenty of headaches. The Powerhouse will have all its clubbers in there swinging from the heels. The probable starting lineups:

Stone Ridge After Their Fifth—Braddock-Farr Match Off

The Colonials looked like a French poodle after a shower last night when the General Electrics finished with them...A peep at that error column in the boxscore gives a good slant on the 11-0 story...Although most of the lads and lassies interested in the Poughkeepsie regatta pick California or Washington tomorrow, they'd like to see Columbia get a break, because Kingston is represented in the Lion boatload by Gus Schatzel, ex-Kingston High athlete...When the Stone Ridge Freeman clash with the Stanton Brewers Sunday, they'll be out for their 5th win in a row...A crowd is expected at the Ridge...Manhattan Beach is trying to get Marshall Goldberg to take charge of athletic activities out there this summer...Only two athletes who entered Clemson College since 1931 and remained four years failed to win degrees...If you want to see a lot of action, drop around to the Athletic Field this evening for that battle of battles between the Independents and Grunewalds...That Jim Braddock-Tommy Farr match in London has been cancelled.

Conway, Admiral Both Are Laid Up

Berlin, Md., June 16 (AP)—The blue and gold racing silks of Samuel D. Riddle have been doffed almost simultaneously by War Admiral and his trainer, George Conway.

Riddle announced today the dour visaged trainer whose pet answer to ropsters was "well, you can never tell about a horse," had already retired to a cottage at Oceanport, N. J., compelled to leave the track by illness after spending 50 of his 66 years with in scent of his charges.

He'll probably be around at the Belmont track Monday when the Admiral, also incapacitated for racing by a sprained foot, takes his last trip to retirement at Riddle's stud farm, near Lexington, Ky.

Riddle's new trainer is Joe Farrell, who at the age of 40, has been with the Riddle colors for 15 years.

Timothy hay should be cut at the early bloom stage; that is, when most heads are in bloom at the tip end. Cutting should be completed by the time timothy reaches full bloom. For clover, cut at two-thirds bloom and finish by the time it is in full bloom.

Amazon Valley Shelters Gorgeously Plumed Bird

In the dense forests of South America through which flow the Amazon river and its tributaries, lives the cock of the rock, according to naturalists who have described him, the most beautiful bird in the world, writes a correspondent to the Michigan P. rmer. He is a glorious creature, in a coat of bright orange, black-tipped wings and tail, and a marvelous double crest which runs backward from the tip of his bill, over the top of his head, like the ridge of a helmet.

To see them dance you must peep through the underbrush in the dense shadows. If you are fortunate, you may see a score of birds in a natural amphitheater, the spectators gathered on bushes surrounding an open space in the center—the stage.

Here this radiant, feathered actor takes his place, and his solo dance begins. With lowered wings, and outspread, pumping tail, he walks round and round the stage, scratching the ground and springing into the air—the spectators in the bushes, meanwhile, giving every evidence of keen enjoyment of his act.

When he is tired, he joins the spectators, while another male takes his place on the stage. Nobody knows how long the dancing continues—probably until every young brave has done his stunt.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

(By The Associated Press)

Now that the major league trading deadline has passed it seems safe to say the Detroit Tigers are the most strengthened club in baseball.

Although the Tigers are crouched in fifth place in the American League today, some of the first division clubs must be trembling at thoughts of Detroit's eight-game winning streak which already has cut into the second-place Boston Red Sox three times in two days.

The Tigers aren't fooling. They settled the outcome of their game yesterday in eight minutes—taking just time to fill the bases in the first inning ahead of a home run by Pete Fox. With Tommy Bridges pitching six-hit ball they had no trouble thereafter in winning 6-3.

Rebuilding of last year's fourth place club started during the winter in a deal which brought Pinks Higgins, a 300-hitting third baseman, to Detroit from Boston. An injury kept him from joining the team until late last month. However, the club did start the season with Barney McCosky, one of the year's prize rookies, in centerfield. Since then it has acquired Buck Newsom, one of the two pitchers in the American League who won 20 games last year; Outfielder Earl Averill, tenth best batter in the league in 1938, and an assortment of less notable performers.

What Will Happen?

This infusion of new spirit and new ability raised the Tigers from a faltering eighth to a challenging fifth within two weeks and enabled them to beat the Yankees two games out of three in their last series. They'll collide with the world champions again tomorrow and something more conclusive may be known when that series is over.

The Yankees lived up to their reputation as great "cooler-offers" yesterday by breaking the Cleveland Indians' winning streak of six games. Lefty Gomez and Mel Harder hooked up in a spectacular hurling duel in which each allowed only four hits. A walk, a single and an infield out provided a run in the fourth and a 1-0 Yankee victory.

John Knott uncorked a two-hitter and Thornton Lee encored with a five-hit job to give the Chicago White Sox both ends of a double-header at Washington, 5-1 and 7-2.

The St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics took the day off following their night game of Wednesday.

Dodgers Win

Cincinnati's Reds gained a full game on the second place St. Louis Cardinals by trimming the Phillies, 4-1, under the lights at Crosley Field after the Brooklyn Dodgers had thumped the Cardinals 8-3, at St. Louis in the afternoon.

Bucky Walters permitted the Phils only five hits and got two singles himself in winning. The game was another heartbreaker for Hugh (losing pitcher) Mulcahy. The first three runs against him were unearned as the Phils paraded six errors.

The Dodgers got 16 hits to crush the Cardinals after trailing 3-1 at the end of the fourth. The victory kept them two percentage points ahead of the New York Giants, who won their seventh straight, 7-4, at Chicago. A five-run rally in the seventh chased lefty Larry French.

The Boston Bees plucked a free-hitting game from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-5, in the 11th inning when Debs Garms doubled, his fourth hit, and John Cooney singled. It was Pittsburgh's sixth loss in a row.

Hit by Golf Ball

Montpelier, Vt., June 16 (AP)—Chasing a foul fly during a baseball game today, William Catnach, 16-year-old high school senior, suffered the possible loss of an eye when struck by a golf ball. A golf course adjoins the ball field. Doctors said it would be two or three weeks before it could be determined if the youth would lose the eye.

The June splurge of Ernie Koy.

Brooklyn outfielder, unkindled hope in the hearts of Dodger fans to turn out to be No. 1 outfielder this year. When Manager Du-rocher restored him to the lineup Ernie proceeded to bat .480 in the next five games, boosting his RBI total higher than anybody on the Flatbush roster except the Italiani duo, Camilli and Lavaretto.

Softball Notes

Federation League
At armory diamond this evening the winner for the first half of the Men's Club Federation League may be determined when Presbyterian and Congregational teams meet for the deciding battle. Should Congregational win there is a possibility of a three-way tie, but with odds that the fast-going Port Ewen team may top the league.

Port Ewen with several games to play has lost but one game. El-mendorf Street Presbyterians have also lost only one, and if they win the struggle today, will be in a very strategic position since they are completing their regular schedule with this evening's game. Port Ewen still has to meet a couple of the better teams.

While attention centers on the Presbyterian-Congregational game this evening Albany Avenue Baptist and Hurley will also be playing at Hasbrouck Park.

Thursday evening's scores were: St. James 8 and Redeemer 7. Port Ewen 4 and Trinity Lutheran 3. Ulster Park 11 and Albany Avenue Baptist 10. All three games were won by a one-run margin.

C. H. Victorious

The Central Hudsons lathered the Country Frocks in the City League last night by 14-1. Strong and Cray made up the winning battery. Hornbeck and Swart that of the Frocks.

Hercules Walk-Away

Hercules had it easy last night in their softball game with the N. Y. A., winning 10-3. Features were home runs by Kennedy and Tomshaw. Bock, Newell, Murdock and McDermott banged out doubles.

Major League Baseball Trades

New York, June 16 (AP)—Here is how the major league clubs met the deadline on trades which went into effect at midnight last night:

The Boston Bees sent First Baseman Elbie Fletcher and an unannounced sum of cash to the Pittsburgh Pirates for Shortstop Billy Schuster, who was under option to Toronto in the International League.

The St. Louis Browns sold Outfielder Mel Almada outright to the Brooklyn Dodgers at undisclosed terms.

The Philadelphia Phillies purchased Pitcher Wyman Kerkisick from the Boston Red Sox, who had optioned him to Louisville in the American Association.

On Wednesday the Detroit Tigers exchanged Pitcher Harry Eganst and cash for Outfielder Earl Averill of the Indians.

The Browns sent Outfielder Rupert Thompson to Newark in the International League after obtaining Outfielder Joe Gallagher the day before in a deal which sent Infielder Roy Hughes to the New York Yankees. The Browns also sold Outfielder Mel Mazzera to Toronto.

The Cincinnati Reds bought Pitcher Art Jacobs from Buffalo in the International, and the Philadelphia Athletics sold Pitcher LeRoy Parmelee to Louisville.

Louis Sees Tony As 4-Round Foe

New York, June 16 (AP)—Twelve days before his fight with Tony Galento, Champion Joe Louis is approaching perfect condition, physically and mentally, at his training camp in Pompton Lakes.

The big, sleepy-eyed negro weighed 203 after a hard session yesterday, in which he boxed six rounds against four rugged partners, and expects to scale 200 even the day of the bout. He is hitting sharp and fast with both hands. He looks more formidable every time he crushes out another man in the ring.

Almost never has Joe appeared so confident before a big fight. He has little, if any, respect for Galento as a fighter. Asked to name the round he expected to put the slug on his chubby challenger, he said, softly:

"I don't know whether I can do that. But the condition I'll be in the night of the fight it oughtn't to last very long. I figure Galento will be easier for me to hit than Paulino was, and I knocked him out in the fourth."

Thursday Scores At Gun Club Shoot

Five skeeters were out for Thursday afternoon's practice shoot at the Ulster County Gun Club range.

Joe Hyatt broke strings of 17 and 18 for 35 out of 50, while Merrill Peck marked up 21 out of 25.

Following are the scores:

J. Hyatt	17+18=35
H. Britt	16+12=28
R. Coles	11+16=27
M. M. Peck	21
G. Skinner	10

Wrestling Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

North Bergen, N. J.—Steve "Crusher" Casey, 225, Ireland, threw Stan Pinto, 214, Nebraska, 23-47.

In the course of halting the Cincinnati Reds' steamroller course with that double-shellacking on Memorial Day, the 1939 Chicago Cubs set probably an all-time baseball record for playing morning-afternoon-night in three successive games. Their holiday billing called for a m. and p. m. battles; their next engagement was the night game opening in Brooklyn.

Kneeling is Coxswain Fred Colbert.

Recreation Trackmen Try For Honors on Saturday In Schenectady Meet

Tomorrow the track and field representatives of the Kingston Department of Recreation compete in the General Electric meet at Schenectady and from all indications the local contingent has a good chance of bringing in the laurels.

Last summer, competing in the upstate meet, the Colonial band won third place under the direction of Ben Bell, former Kingston High School track enthusiast, who has continued his interest in the sport.

Saturday, the Kingston representatives will make the trip and compete with Sid Lutzin, superintendent of recreation, and Bell, in charge, and hope to come out in the top division.

This morning Lutzin said the Recreationers are in good physical trim and ready to stand any sort of competition. "I think the boys are in better form than when they competed upstate last year, because they have had the advantage of working out at the new municipal stadium."

The track at the stadium, which is almost completed, is one of the best in this section of the state.

Some of the track and field athletes bound for Schenectady tomorrow are Mike Welner, defending champion of the 220 dash and 100-yards and broad jumper; Gene Wren, quarter mile second place man last summer; Jess Shultis, miler; Joe Hart and Joe Bel-rack, half miler; Don Clarke, high jumper.

Last summer these athletes were impressive when they brought home the third place trophy for the Kingston A. C., the first organization to sponsor their competition away from home, in the G. E. meet sponsored by the Adirondack A. A. U.

On Saturday, June 24, the Kingston Recreation harriers will compete in the A. A. U. meet at Saratoga.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Cefirino Garcia, 154, Los Angeles, knocked out Walter (Popeye) Woods, 160½, New York, (4).

Toronto—Dave Castilloux, 127½, Montreal, stopped Everett Rightmire, 127½, Sioux City, Ia., (6).

San Francisco—Ralph De John, 176, Syracuse, N. Y., stopped Buddy Holzhauser, 179, Long Beach, Calif., (5).

Richmond, Va.—Petey Sarron, 133½, Birmingham, outpointed Herman Palomo, 134½, Yucatan, (10).

Baltimore—Louis Kid Cocoa, 148, stopped Bobby Masters, 148, Philadelphia, (3).

ROLLIE BEANED BY JOE'S BAT

Rollie Hemsley, Cleveland catcher, holds his head in pain after being dropped in the first inning of a Cleveland-New York Yankees game in New York by Joe DiMaggio's bat. Joe was swinging at Bob Feller's fast one when the mishap occurred, and here leans anxiously over the stunned catcher. Rollie later resumed play. The Indians won, 4 to 2.

Among the great orations of all time, unfortunately now lost to history because there was no microphone or stenographer handy, was the official statement of Jerome Dizzy Dean on the subject of the Philadelphia Sunday curfew law which automatically ended the second game of a doubleheader in the fourth inning with the score 2-0, thus throwing out of the records a neat whitewashing which Mr. Dean was industriously applying to Doc Prothro's fighting Phils.

Celebrated Birthday

Last week-end Mr. and Mrs. Chris Saunders and son, Kenneth, and Mr. and Mrs. Jason Boice of Harwich street spent a delightful week-end in Providence, R. I., as the guests of Roger Saunders, assistant manager of the Providence G. R. Kinney Co. store. To make the visit more enjoyable the birthday of Mrs. Saunders was celebrated at the Pautucket, R. I. Hofbrau where she was received in true Bavarian fashion, receiving the best wishes of parties present as well as the entertainers. Twelve were present in the party.

Nursing Committee Meets

As a final meeting for the year the Public Health Nursing Committee of the township of Esopus held an all-day session at the home of Mrs. Loren LeFever, Esopus. The morning was spent in sewing, making supplies for the clinic. After a delicious luncheon served by the hostess a business meeting was held. The clinic committee reported that the infant and pre-natal clinic will move to the permanent quarters on Broadway, Port Ewen, in July.

Northfield Students Graduated

Stone Ridge Library To Honor Founding

The 30th anniversary of the founding of the Stone Ridge Library will be observed Saturday. Tea will be served to adult borrowers and members of the library association from 4 until 6 o'clock. Antiques will be on display in the upper rooms of the library.

The library building was presented to the community as a memorial in 1909 to Mr. and Mrs. Garret Hasbrouck by their daughter, Mrs. Julia Dwight. It started its career as a free library immediately that year with Mrs. Matilda Van Winkle, who served as librarian and member of the first board of trustees from 1909 until her death in 1935.

Celebrated 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Gaspard St. Ledger were pleasantly surprised when a group of relatives and friends gathered at the St. Ledger home on Roosevelt avenue on Saturday evening to help them celebrate the 25th anniversary of their marriage. Beautiful and appropriate gifts were presented, and during the evening Mrs. John Form sang "I Love You Truly" by Bond and "O Promise Me" by DeKoven, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Richard Obenaus. Among the guests were John Mark, who was best man at the wedding a quarter of a century ago, and Mrs. Marks, Mr. and Mrs. George Greb, Charles Leonard and Miss Ivy St. Ledger, all of Staten Island; Miss Ann Mitchell of Brooklyn, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Bushnell, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Obenaus, Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand Burr, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hugel, Mr. and Mrs. John Form, Jack Sharot, Rodney St. Ledger and daughter, Beverly, all of Kingston.

Jones-Eckert

Stone Ridge, June 16—Miss Lulu Eckert of Krumville and Clement Jones, Jr., of Stone Ridge were united in marriage at the Methodist parsonage by the Rev. Frederick Baker in Sunday, June 11. The young couple were attended by Mrs. Eckert, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Alfred Jones, mother of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will spend their honeymoon in the Pocono mountains, Atlantic City and Garden City.

Tea to Meet Actors

Friends of the Playhouse are cordially invited to attend a tea on Tuesday, June 20, from 4 to 5:30 at Brooklands, in Woodstock, to meet the members of the Woodstock Playhouse, who are now in rehearsal for the season's opening bill, "Susan and God."

Entertained Classmates

Miss Mary Krenkowski entertained five of her classmates of New York State College on Thursday at a dinner party at the home of her parents on Highland avenue. Those attending were Miss Helen Kriska of Binghamton, Miss Mary Gabriel of Niagara Falls, Miss Mildred Swain of Saranac Lake, Miss Victoria Belze of Huntington, L. I., and Miss Madeline Greenwald of Baldwin. They were accompanied by Miss Christine Annabelle of Battle Creek, Mich., who is house mother at Newman Hall at Albany.

Immaculate Conception Picnic
The Children of Mary Sodality of the Church of the Immaculate Conception will hold the church school picnic Sunday, June 18, from 3 until 12 o'clock. The picnic will be held rain or shine on the church grounds on Delaware avenue. The public is invited to attend.

Wiltwyck Club Activities

Wiltwyck Golf Club is the setting for many social activities. These care-free late spring days. The weekly "Ladies' Day" was observed Wednesday with from 25 to 30 members and their guests present despite the threatening weather. Next week a specially arranged tournament for the members will be conducted on Ladies' Day. Next Monday members of

Woodstock Resident Wed in New York

Miss Barbara Joan Adams, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Chamberlain Adams of Woodstock, and Rodney Cromwell Stewart, son of Dr. Walter and Dr. Zella Stewart of Iowa City, Ia., were married Monday, June 12 in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Washington Square, New York city.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Ralph Linny and was followed by a small wedding luncheon at the Hotel Brevoort. Mrs. Stewart is one of the stage managers of "The American Way," current play on Broadway, and Mr. Stewart is a member of the cast. During a vacation for the cast of "The American Way," Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will spend their honeymoon in Iowa City and will return July 1 for the reopening of the play.

School Teacher to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Royal F. Hinman of Kerhonkson have announced the engagement of their daughter, Vivian White, to Harold Kent Darling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hamilton Darling of 228 Clifton avenue, this city. The wedding will take place on June 27 at the home of the bride's parents. Miss White attended Northfield Seminary, Northfield, Mass., and is a graduate of Barnard College. She is a member of the faculty of the Kerhonkson Union School. Mr. Darling is a graduate of New Paltz State Normal School and has been appointed to the faculty of School No. 7.

Hostess on Birthday

Patricia June Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Burns, was hostess to 17 friends Wednesday in honor of her ninth birthday at the home of her parents, 3 Schryver Court. During the afternoon various games were played and later dainty refreshments were served, the party table being attractively decorated in pink and green. The guests were Gladys Avery, Audrey Burger, Joan Moore, Marian Fennelly, Robert Cahill, Thomas and Richard Reynolds, Shirley and Jack Finch, Thomas La Mothe, June Marabell, Mary and Betty Burns, Sema Rabin, Robert and Jack Schroeder and Miss Marjory Burns of Syracuse.

New Superintendent Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw of Ogdensburg, who will take up their residence in Kingston shortly when Mr. Laidlaw assumes his duties as superintendent of the Kingston public schools, are being feted by various organizations in Ogdensburg. The teachers and staff of the Ogdensburg public school system paid tribute to them at a farewell dinner Tuesday evening which marked the conclusion of 15 years as superintendent. Mrs. Laidlaw was presented with a silver tea pot and Mr. Laidlaw with a handsome traveling bag and fitted case.

A testimonial dinner for Prof. and Mrs. Laidlaw by the Laetare Choral Club will take place June 21. The superintendent and his wife have been interested and active members of the club.

Personal Notes

Miss Ruth Scott of West Chester street left Thursday for Berkeley, Calif. En route she will visit Zion National Park, the Grand Canyon of Colorado and Los Angeles. She will be joined later in Berkeley by her sister, Miss Margaret Scott, and both will attend summer sessions at the University of California.

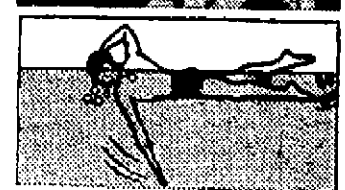

Mrs. Edwin N. Gage of 70 Liberty street is spending some time in Rahway and Ocean Grove. Mr. and Mrs. M. Donald Lane of Mountain View avenue and their house-guest, Mrs. Lane's sister, Mrs. R. S. Johnston of Wilmington, Del., left today for Ithaca to attend the annual concert of the Cornell Glee Club. Miss Hermine Lawatsch of this city is a member of the club and Donald Lane is a member of the freshman quartet.

Miss Alice J. Campbell, former principal of "Our School" at Stone Ridge, will arrive today in New York city after three years at Lingnan University, Canton, China. Mrs. Campbell will come to Stone Ridge where she will be the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Sanger Carleton.

Mrs. Charles Ramsey of Albany avenue was hostess at a luncheon and bridge Thursday at the Dorchester at Hurley. Covers were laid for 11.

On June 7 New York University conferred the degree of Master of Arts on Mrs. Mary R. Garrison Bellows, daughter of George W.

Home Service Good Times For You When You Swim Well

No need to be a landlubber—when you can quickly learn even the great American Crawl. First step in swimming is to get accustomed to having your face in water, to breathe without swallowing a lake or two—and that's a trick you can easily learn at home.

Simple to coordinate your breathing with the arm strokes of the Crawl. Stand bent forward in waist-deep water. As you pull with right arm, roll left side of your face out of water. Breathe IN through mouth as you lift left arm out for next stroke. Then submerge your face, breathe OUT through nose as our sketch shows—as you pull with left arm, lift right arm out.

Get complete directions and diagrams for arm and kick strokes of the American Crawl in our new 32-page booklet. Tells how to float, do back stroke, trudgeon-crawl, side-stroke, trudgeon-crawl and breast stroke. Gives instructions for diving, water, surf, swimming. Safety measure for beginners. Send 10 cents in coin for your copy of HOW TO BE A GOOD SWIMMER to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

A "LITTLE PRINCESS" FROCK

MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9983

Sweet and demure as can be... but with a dash of the imp to lend enchantment! This adorable jacket frock, Pattern 9983, is designed by Marian Martin. The sleek princess lines are quick as a flash to stitch up, especially with the ever-helpful Sewing Chart. Extra panels in the skirt not only give it swishing fullness, but they rise to a high smart point at the front waistline. Tiny buttons trim the bodice, and a froth of lace or ruffles peek out here, there and everywhere—even around the hem. The jacket with its sweet-heart neck follows the exact lines of the dress bodice.

Pattern 9983 may be ordered only in junior and misses' sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 14, dress, requires 3 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric and 4 1/2 yards lace edging. Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coin for this MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to give your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

Swing into summer in a light-hearted mood with a wardrobeful of new clothes. Even if your budget won't "budge," you can find a way by ordering MARIAN MARTIN'S NEW PATTERN BOOK and stitching up your summer things at home. You'll find be-frilled street frocks... be-glamored evening wear. The new basque and "little girl" trends! Sportswear, sea-and-sun styles, housefrocks, bridal finery! The latest cottons, sheers and prints. Clothes for tiny tots, teens and twenties; slimming styles for matrons. Order a copy NOW! BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. PATTERN FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Send your order to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th street, New York, N. Y.

Luncheon at the Casino of Nations

Another Feature Planned for Ulster County-Kingston Day at World's Fair

The general committee, known as the Ulster County Council, in charge of arrangements for Ulster County-Kingston Day at the New York World's Fair, Monday, June 26, plans to have luncheon at 12:30 that day at the Casino of Nations. They will be more than pleased to have Ulster county people generally join them there for luncheon. Among those who have indicated their intention to be among the luncheon party is a group from the Ulster County Society in the City of New York, headed by Rufus Van Aken, president of the society.

Th plan for a formal dinner on Ulster County Day has been abandoned.

Secretary Albert Kurdt states that at 4:30 Monday afternoon, June 26, gifts representing the people of Ulster county generally will be presented to Mayor LaGuardia and Grover Whalen. The presentation will take place at the Region 3 exhibit in the New York state building. Mayor C. J. Heiselman will present the gift to Mayor LaGuardia, and Robert Snyder, chairman of the Board of Supervisors will make the presentation to Grover Whalen.

The attention of people from this county also is also called to the fact that a registration and information desk will be maintained for their convenience in the lobby of the New York State Building. Identification tags may be obtained there, souvenir booklets will be given out and it may be used as headquarters for Ulster county visitors. The state building is on the lagoon, near the amusement section, on the southern end of the grounds.

Secretary Kurdt requests that people intending to visit the Fair June 26, growing in private cars, purchase souvenir tickets from the County Council. They are obtainable at various places in the county and are redeemable if not used.

Service Announced For Ahavath Israel

It doesn't seem exactly fair, we admit:

Jack: There is a lot of favoritism in our family.

Uncle: Why, Jack, what on earth do you mean?

Jack — Well, I get punished if I bite my fingernails, and when baby puts his foot in his mouth they think it's cute.

DOG POSSIBLE CLUE IN BABY MURDER

Mrs. Velma Baker Fink of Clyde Co., whose 10-week-old son was abducted and later found dead, dries her eyes as she attempts to help officers in their hunt for the slayer. Failure of "Rags," the family dog held in her lap, to bark at the time of the abduction was considered by Mrs. Fink's brother, Edwin Baker, to indicate the kidnaper was known to the dog.

FIGURES IN 'DEATH PLOT' STORY

Authorities at Prestonburg, Ky., investigated the story of Robert Ison, 32, (right) of Gate City, Va., former federal prisoner, that he was hired while a prisoner at Atlanta to kill two men instrumental in a relief fraud investigation. One of the asserted objects of the murder plot was Henry Porter (left) of Allen, Ky. Ison made affidavit that he left Atlanta to carry out the plot, upon his release from prison, but was arrested at Bristol, Va., on a counterfeiting charge.
